Se basant sur ce fait que la classification des verbes en quatre conjugaisons, établie en imitation de la conjugaison latine, n'est nullement nécessaire pour les verbes français, l'auteur divise hardiment ceux-ci en deux conjugaisons seulement. Par ce moyen, il a pu rendre claire et facile cette partie si importante de la grammaire et obtenir des résultats remarquables, consacrés par une expérience de vingt ans.

DR. SAUVEUR'S

EDUCATIONAL WORKS.

"The HENESS-SAUVEUR SYSTEM of teaching the Languages (the Natural Method) differs from that usually followed, in that the pupil learns the language which he undertakes to acquire without the aid of grammar or dictionary, purely as a spoken language, and much in the same way that a child would learn it. English is banished from the class-room; the time is used in conversation beginning with such simple elements as the familiar objects in the room may afford, and the vocabulary is formed by degrees, every day fixing in the memory the words already learned and adding others, until, in a surprisingly short time, the learner finds himself carrying on some animated discussion, of limited range to be sure at first, but with a sufficient command of his new language for the purpose. Pronunciation is acquired, and the ear formed at the same time, without the confusion which the written form of French or German is apt to create at first."—The Nation.

"You are striking at the root of the evil by showing how to teach, and by inspiring with your example, as well as with your books, many most intelligent persons to begin on a new basis the work of instruction."—Pres. D. C. GILMAN.

"I admire extremely all that I have seen of your system."—F. J. CHILD, Harvard College.

"I believe that the common methods of teaching languages, ancient or modern, to children and young persons, need to be profoundly changed, and changed in the direction of your 'Natural Method.'"—Pres. CHARLES W. ELIOT.

"CAMBRIDGE, November, 1877.

"The HENESS-SAUVEUR SYSTEM is the rational way to lead the pupil to understand, speak, read, and write a foreign tongue. I would call it the Natural Method. In the hands of a spirited teacher it produces marvellous results, enabling the reader to think and express himself unconsciously in the new language he is acquiring, and to appreciate its genius and feel its niceties.

"I think it can be carried out even in the largest classes; it is so good and simple that I hope it will be fairly tried by teachers of languages. I desire to say this because I was never convinced of its practicability and excellence myself until I tried it.

"It is not superficial. On the contrary, I know of no system that calls up more mental activity in both teacher and pupil. There is nothing mechanical or merely formal in it. It lends itself to the highest teaching. Even the grammatical knowledge imparted by this method is broader than is given by any other.

"As I understand it, there is no good thing in the old system which it does not embrace, if brought in at the proper time, the fundamental idea being that, from the start, the language to be taught must be used as the only medium of instruction. The instructor proceeds by induction from the concrete to the abstract, and so connects word and phrase with the things or ideas they express that the pupil rapidly learns the use of a new instrument for expressing his thoughts by the same process by which he acquired his vernacular tongue.

"Rue d'Assas, No. 44.

"MONSIEUR: J'ai reçu vos deux volumes, Entretiens sur la Grammaire et Causeries avec mes Elèves.

"Je vous en remercie. J'en ai pris connaissance avec intérêt. Je suis d'accord avec vous sur l'utilité d'apprendre la langue d'abord, et de ne venir à la grammaire que subséquemment. Par ce procédé, la grammaire cesse d'être une abstraction difficile à concevoir, difficile à appliquer. Mise à sa place, elle devient à la fois plus facile, plus lumineuse, et plus féconde.

"La méthode de s'appuyer plus sur les bons écrivains que sur les grammairiens me paraît digne de tout éloge. Il est vrai qu'en ceci je ne puis être que partial; car c'est cette méthode que j'ai suivie dans mon Dictionnaire de la langue française.

"Vos chapitres sur le participe passé et sur le subjonctif ont attiré particulièrement mon attention. Vous avez beaucoup facilité la théorie et la pratique du premier. Quant au second, qui comporte tant de nuances, vous êtes un guide excellent pour toutes ces délicatesses de langage.

"Dans ce qu'on lit, vous trouverez naturel que l'on cherche son profit particulier. Ce profit particulier a été pour moi dans une série d'observations et de discussions auxquelles vous avez été conduit en examinant certains articles de mon Dictionnaire. Je ne hais pas de me voir critiqué, quand la critique est fructueuse. Je suis bien vieux, et ne puis songer à aucun travail de révision; mais mes successeurs, si j'en ai, feront bien d'extraire de votre livre ce qui me concerne, afin de le discuter et de l'approprier.

"Agréez, monsieur, l'assurance de ma haute considération.

"E. LITTRÉ."

TEXT-BOOKS.

I.—FRENCH.

Introduction to the Teaching of the Living Languages. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

De l'Enseignement des Langues Vivantes. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

No one ought to teach the Natural Method without getting thoroughly imbued with the contents of these little works. They will interest not pupils only, but all teachers and students of any language. As the works of the masters have preceded grammars, so should the study of the masters precede the study of grammar. After the language is well known, the study of grammar becomes a work of intelligence, full of serious enjoyment : before that time it is useless.

Causeries avec les Enfants. 12mo, $1.25.

"Je recommande toute spécialement à l'attention des professeurs les Causeries avec les enfants Elles présentent une application rigoureuse de la méthode d'enseignement décrite dans ma brochure, Introduction to the Teaching of Living Languages. Je n'ai pas perdu de vue un instant que je destinais le livre aux enfants, et aussi aux mères qui voudront enseigner elles-mêmes la langue française à leurs fils et à leurs filles.

"La conversation dans les Causeries avec les enfants est très-facile et soigneusement graduée. Le principe capital de la méthode est qu'il faut aller sans cesse du connu à l'inconnu, faisant comprendre les mots nouveaux par ceux que l'élève a déjà acquis, et sans jamais demander aucun secours à la langue anglaise. Ce principe a été appliqué dans le présent ouvrage avec l'attention la plus grande. Aussi, je le considère comme éminemment propre à introduire mes collègues dans la pratique de l'enseignement."

Petites Causeries. 12mo, $1.25.

The Petites Causeries advances a step farther in conversation, taking up many of the fables of La Fontaine, and entering into deeper and more thoughtful conversation upon them and other topics of absorbing interest. There is not a chapter but is full of fascination even to the wisest. There is no talking by rule for the sake simply of becoming learned ; but everything is natural, graceful, and beautiful. The author says : "Je les destine tout particulièrement aux premières classes des Écoles supériures (High Schools) et aux établissements qui font de l'enseignement du français une portion importante de leurs études."

La Parole Francaise. By L. SAUVEUR and A. VAN DAELL. 12mo, $1.

"Quelles sont les personnes qui doivent employer ce livre? Celles-là qui s'intéressent peu à la littérature et qui étudient le français pour le parler seulement dans la société de tout le monde, pour voyager en France et en Europe, pour aller causer à Paris de ce dont on s'entretient tous les jours, là comme ici, comme partout. Le livre peut servir aussi aux élèves qui étudient les Petites Causeries : il ajoutera à leur vocabulaire un autre vocabulaire non moins riche que le premier et presque indispensable."

Causeries avec mes Eleves. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

A work of a higher grade for older students, who are of proper age to enter into conversation upon all topics—literature, art, politics, religion, and any theme of social interest. The Causeries avec mes Elèves is not only a book of the Natural Method, it is much more ; its wealth of words, of expressions, of thoughts, makes of it the most perfect READER that a teacher might wish for. It ought thus to find its way into every school, and be the book of all methods. The very genius of France is alive in all its pages.

"For many of his chapters, Dr. Sauveur takes some fable from La Fontaine as his theme, recites and comments upon it, illustrates it by historical reference, or digresses to some inviting collateral topic—all, be it understood, in question and answer, skilfully and sometimes even artistically managed. Molière, Pascal, a humorous passage or two from Töpffer, in the same way supply the text for chapters, which give variety and freshness to what is usually a monotonous and dry road."—The Nation.

Contes Merveilleux. 12mo, $1.50.

A book well adapted to give the fluent use of conversation, and containing a wealth of words.

Fables de la Fontaine, avec notes. $1.50.

In this selection of masterpieces, in the accompanying notes, and in the choice of extracts from different authors, expressing ideas in relation with the fables, we find the ideal conversation-book for intelligent classes. The great fabulist has found an exponent who loves and understands him and has brought him nearer to us.

Entretiens sur la Grammaire, 12mo, $1.75.

After Littré's letter it is unnecessary to write another word in praise of the most original of all French Grammars.

Grammaire Francaise pour les Anglais. 12mo, $1.50.

This work has a unique feature and one that makes it a great improvement upon any of its predecessors : it is really written for people of English tongue, which means that it encounters and overcomes those special difficulties which Americans dread when they undertake to study French. The book is no reproduction of well-known and insufficient rules ; it is original, personal, and founded on the class-room experience of one whose powers of observation and faculty of imparting knowledge have been admired by the greatest educators of this country. Dr. Sauveur says in his Preface : "C'est aux personnes de langue anglaise, que le livre est destiné. Aussi me suis-je efforcé de ne jamais oublier que ceux qui étudieront ma grammaire ne sont pas français, qu'ils ignorent nos idiotismes, qu'ils ne connaissent point et comprennent difficilement la signification de nos temps, qu'ils ont à peine une idée de notre subjonctif, que l'emploi de l'article et les règles du participe sont une nouveauté qui étonne leur esprit saxon, et qu'ils ont à apprendre même la prononciation de la langue française. De nombreux exercices terminent ma grammaire, et je fais imprimer séparément le corrigé de ces exercices. Celui-ci est destiné aux professeurs seulement et aux personnes qui étudient sans maître."

Petite Grammaire Francaise pour les Anglais. 12mo, $1.25.

Cette grammaire embrasse tout le sujet traité dans la Grammaire française pour les Anglais. Cependant, je me suis efforcé d'être assez simple dans mon style pour être compris de tous, même de ceux-là qui sont peu avancés dans l'étude du français, ou qui sont encore trop jeunes pour entendre rien à la philosophie d'une langue. Dans ce but, des exercices nombreux ont été mis dans le livre à côté des règles, et parmi ces exercices on trouvera un certain nombre de phrases anglaises et de courts extraits des auteurs anglais, destinés à être traduits par les élèves. Ils ont été choisis avec le plus grand soin, en vue d'enseigner l'application des règles, et de les faire mieux comprendre et mieux retenir."

"On a mis à la fin de cette grammaire le premier acte de Lo Dame de Lyons (The Lady of Lyons), et un chapitre des Aventures d'Alice dans le pays des merveilles (Alice's Adventures in Wonderland). On trouvera ces passages traduits dans le Corrigé des exercices qui accompagne ce livre."

Corrige des Exercices de la Petite Grammaire Francaise. 12mo, paper, 50 cents.

II.—LATIN.

Introduction to the Teaching of the Ancient Languages. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

"I have read with interest your 'Introduction to the Teaching of Ancient Languages,' and the first chapter of your 'Talks with Cæsar,' and desire to thank you for the advance sheets. I believe that the common methods of teaching languages, ancient or modern, to children and young persons, need to be profoundly changed, and changed in the direction of your 'Natural Method.'

"Your persevering efforts to make known your method, and to demonstrate its advantages, seem to me, therefore, to be of public service.

Believe me, dear sir, very truly yours,

PRES. CHARLES W. ELIOT, Harvard University."

The Vade Mecum of the Latinist. Thirty chapters of Cæsar, to be learned by heart. Reprinted from "Talks with Cæsar de Bello Gallico." (With accents, marks of quantity, and map of Gaul.) 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

A Word for Word Rendering into English of C. Julii Cæsar Commentarii de Bello Gallico, Book I. To accompany "Talks with Cæsar." 12mo paper, 25 cents.

Talks with Cæsar de Bello Gallico. (Colloquia Cæsariana ; Text of the First Four Books, with accents and marks of quantity ; Notes on Book First ; and an appendix on Pronunciation and Inflection. With map of Gaul.) 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"My dear Dr. Sauveur : I return by to-day's mail the proofs of your 'Talks with Cæsar,' which you sent me, and which I have read through with constantly increasing interest. The fact is, no one can stand out against your enthusiasm, to say nothing of your genius for teaching languages. I begin a skeptic ; I continue a rebel for a time ; but before I know it I surrender at discretion.

W. S. TYLER, Professor of Greek, Amherst College."

"I have the most hopeful interest in your application of the 'Natural Method' to the ancient languages. In learning Latin, it would save at least half the pupil's time, and would occupy the other half to much better purpose than by the old method, as it would exercise not his memory alone, but his reason and his imagination. I shall endeavor to interest the teachers of Latin in our public High School in your treatise, as illustrated by the 'Talks,' and shall be gratified to find them able and willing with new classes to enter upon the New Method.

DR. A. P. PEABODY, Harvard University."

Harold Dorsey's Fortune. By MARY DWINELL CHELLIS.
(See The Old Mill.)

Hermit of Livry, The. By Miss M. R. HOUSEKEEPER. [Prize Series.] Pp. 438, $1.50.

Only now and then is there a writer capable of setting forth, in such a way that one can realize it, what those had to encounter who were among the first to break away from the Church of Rome. Such a writer we have in the author of "The Hermit of Livry." Her book is history put in the form of fiction. She gives us one tragedy, but makes us see many more. It is powerfully but wisely written.

It is a stirring French tale of great power, dealing with the times when men first began to break away from the Church of Rome. The basis of the story is historical, and the period is treated with fidelity and good judgment, making the book instructive as well as interesting. It tells of a young monk who is led to see the errors of the Church to which he had honestly and enthusiastically consecrated his life. His experiences are thrilling in the extreme. The plot is skillfully developed, the characters are well drawn, and the interest of the reader is held from the beginning to the end. Incidentally the steps by which a noble Christian character is developed into sturdy independence are clearly portrayed, and this, perhaps, is the most valuable and helpful characteristic of the book.

Highways and Hedges. By Mrs. Emily Huntington Miller. Pp. 360, $1.25.

A story of city missionary Sunday-school work. The reward of patience in Christian work, the power of flowers and little ministries to waken better ambitions in the poor, the blessing of simple trust in God, and the ability of the drunkard to recover himself by divine help, are among the lessons taught. Dry humor and tender pathos invest the story with interest.

His capital proved productive, too, though he took up with mining as a common miner. He would not join the "Unions," in spite of pressure and threats, and through his sturdy integrity became superintendent where he began as a mere laborer. It is a thrilling story of the days of the Molly Maguires.

And lend a hand.

Rose and Thorn. By KATHARINE LEE BATES. [Prize Series.] Pp. 361, $1.50. [This story took the first prize.]

This is a story at once dainty, strong, and touching. Its hero is a hunchback, and its heroine is his twin sister. The sister is endowed with beauty, favor, friends, and fortune, while her brother has to struggle with poverty, and to meet the harder side of life. The contrast is suggested in the names — Rose and Thorn. But the story tells how the sister devoted herself to her brother when she discovered him, how she brightened his life, and how at last he came to be appreciated in spite of his deformity by the friends who had been so kind to her. One is charmed by the way the story is told, but more by the spirit of the story itself. It surely has a mission of grace to perform.

Sermons on the International Sunday-School Lessons. By the MONDAY CLUB. $1.25. Published yearly.

The Sermons by the "Monday Club" are widely known among ministers and Sunday-school teachers. It is the only series of the kind that has proved successful. At the very first the "Monday Club" hit the right ideal, and familiarity with the work for so many years has enabled the writers who compose it to render increasingly acceptable service. The ability as sermonizers of such men as Drs. Dunning, Boynton, Griffis, Clark, Leavitt, etc., is well known. (Ready in October.)

THE PHYSICIAN'S LEISURE LIBRARY.

WE have made a new departure in the publication of medical books. As you no doubt know, many of the large treatises published, which sell for four or five or more dollars, contain much irrelevant matter of no practical value to the physician, and their high price makes it often impossible for the average practitioner to purchase anything like a complete library.

Believing that short practical treatises, prepared by well known authors, containing the gist of what they had to say regarding the treatment of diseases commonly met with, and of which they had made a special study, sold at a small price, would be welcomed by the majority of the profession, we have arranged for the publication of such a series, calling it The Physician's Leisure Library.

This series has met with the approval and appreciation of the medical profession, and we shall continue to issue in it books by eminent authors of this country and Europe, covering the best modern treatment of prevalent diseases.

The series will certainly afford practitioners and students an opportunity never before presented for obtaining a working library of books by the best authors at a price which places them within the reach of all. The books are amply illustrated, and issued in attractive form.

They may be had bound either in durable paper covers at 25 Cts. per copy, or in cloth at 50 Cts. per copy. Complete series of 12 books in sets as announced, at $2.50, in paper, or cloth at $5.00, postage prepaid. See complete list.

DENISON'S

REFERENCE INDEX

APPLICABLE TO

Dictionaries, Catalogues, Blank Books,
Directories, Commercial Reports,
Atlases, Trade Lists, Cyclopedias, Periodicals.

REFERENCE BOOKS OF ALL KINDS, ETC.

For convenience in description the letters in gold on the thin black leather in the cuttings are called PRIMARIES, and the other letters are called SECONDARIES.

It enables one to turn to any letter or subject with a single motion.

1st. If the book is lying with front cover up and it is desired to open to any word beginning with D, pass the finger under that letter on the cover into the cutting beneath it, and the book is instantly opened to the position of the volume in the above illustration.

2d. From this position one turns in the same way to any letter from E to M.

3d. To turn to any letter visible in the cuttings, as A to D or N to Z, place the thumb on the letter in the cutting, then grasp the adjacent leaves with the fingers, and the book is opened as before at a single motion.

The cuttings are colored, and the letters or abbreviations in the cuttings are gold, on thin black leather, so that the index proves an ornament, not a blemish, to the book.

It saves a large part of the time consumed in consulting books of reference, preserving them by reducing the handling, and will outlast even the best leather bindings.

This Reference Index is best and most cheaply applied in the original printing and binding of the book, and estimates will be cheerfully made printers, binders or publishers on all sorts of edition work.

Webster, Worcester and many other books are issued in large numbers in this form.

In buying books of reference be sure to specify "with Denison's Reference Index, as shown in the cut."

The cost per volume of Denison's Reference Index, when applied in the original printing and binding of the book is but trifling, but when it has to be applied completely by hand, the cost is necessarily very much more, as follows :

$2.00 on each copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.
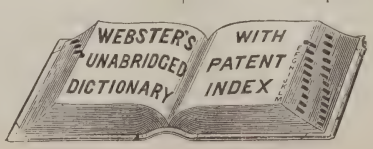
Worcester's " "
Lippincott's Gazeteer.
" Biographical Dictionary.
Harper's Latin Dictionary.
" Greek "

$1.50 each copy on
Adler's German and English Dictionary.
Surenne's French and English "

$1.00 each copy on
Academic Dictionaries, etc.

From the above prices any one can readily estimate approximately the cost according to the size, of having any book indexed with Denison's Reference Index complete.



DENISON'S DUPLEX INDEX.

The secondaries in the Duplex Index are placed on the oblique walls of the cuttings opposite to the primaries, instead of on the margins of the leaves and covers of the volume, as in the Reference Index.

By this arrangement it will be seen that each letter appears twice in each cutting, so that one or the other will be visible when the leaves are turned either to the right or left.

The Duplex Index is inferior to the Reference Index, but from the facility of its application it is recommended for Directories and other annuals, and for any books requiring many cuttings.

The price for applying this Duplex Index on any book, large or small, at any time, is fifty ($0.50) cents for each complete alphabet, or two dozen cuttings. For Bibles, $1.50 per single copy.

TO THE TRADE.

A discount is made from prices for application of either of the Reference or Duplex Indexes as follows ;

On less than 10 Books of same kind, in one lot, 25 per cent.
On 10 to 20 Books of same kind, in one lot, 33⅓ per cent.
Over 20 Books of same kind, in one lot, 40 per cent.

Special estimates will be made for applying Index to all Reference Books in Public or Private Libraries, and for all kinds of edition work.

Rights granted to Publishers for a small royalty.

Lessons in Love. From the time that Ovid wrote his "Art of Love" to the present day, lovemaking has never ceased to play a most important part in literature. In fact, deprived of this one topic, the very life of literature would be imperiled. Yet, notwithstanding the fact that almost every book we read has for its central interest an episode on love, how many lovers have ransacked libraries in vain, searching for practical advice and kindly hints that would help them toward furthering their love affairs. In this book are gathered the best thoughts of the greatest authors upon this subject, both in prose and verse, embracing every phase of love.—Every one who has been, is, or ever expects to be, in love, will find here much of interest, help and encouragement.

Short Comedies for Amateur Play- ers. Adapted and arranged by Mrs. Burton Harrison. Illustrated by Kelly. "The Mouse Trap," "Weeping Wives," "Behind a Curtain," "Tea at Five O'clock," "Two Strings to Her Bow." The comedies selected for this volume are easily within the scope of intelligent amateurs. They have been tested and approved as suitable for this purpose by various audiences assembled at private houses, and by the larger hearing accorded them on the occasions of their production at the Madison Square and Lyceum theatres in New York city. Unusual care has been exercised in preparing this volume to make it the most attractive as well as the most valuable contribution to the literature of amateur theatricals ever offered. The five charming little sketches by Mr. Kelly will be found invaluable as suggestions for costuming and stage grouping.

40 The American Hoyle; or, Gentleman's Hand-Book of Games. Containing all the Games Played in the United States, with Rules, Descriptions and Technicalities. Adapted to the American Methods of Playing. By Trumps. Thirteenth Edition: Illustrated with Numerous Diagrams and Engravings. This work is designed and acknowledged as an Authority on all Games as played in America, being a guide to the correct methods of playing, and an arbiter on all disputed points. In each of the previous editions the work was subjected to careful revision and correction; but this, the Thirteenth Edition, is entirely new, and rewritten from the latest reliable sources. It includes an Exhaustive Treatise on Whist, with all the latest essays on the Modern Game, by Clay, Pole, Drayson, &c., &c. Also, a lucid description of all the Games now in vogue in America, with the Laws that govern them, revised and corrected to conform to present usages; and embraces an elaborate and practical analysis of the Doctrine of Chances. 12mo, cloth, 536 pages..... 2.00

41 Dick's Games of Patience; or, Solitaire with Cards. Containing sixty-four Games. Illustrated with about fifty explanatory full-page Tableaux. This treatise on Solitaire, a pastime which is steadily gaining in popularity, embraces a number of new and original Games, and all the Games of Patience at present in favor with the most experienced players. Each Game is carefully and lucidly described, with the distinctive rules to be observed and hints as to the best means of success in play. The Tableaux furnish efficient aid in rendering the disposition of the cards necessary to each game, plain and easily comprehensible. The difficulty usually attending descriptions of intricate games is reduced, as far as possible, by precision in method and terseness of expression in the text, and the illustrations serve to dispel any possible ambiguity that might be unavoidable without their aid. The work is attractive in style and elegant in execution, and will prove an interesting companion for many a solitary hour. Quarto. 144 pages.

PRACTICAL RECEIPTS AND PROCESSES,
CONTAINING 6,422 PRACTICAL RECEIPTS,

Written in a plain and popular manner, and illustrated with explanatory wood-cuts. Being a comprehensive Book of Reference for the Merchant, Manufacturer, Artisan, Amateur and Housekeeper, embracing valuable information in the Arts, Professions, Trades, Manufactures, including Medicine, Pharmacy and Domestic Economy. The scope of this work is entirely different from any other book of the kind. Besides being a complete and almost indispensable book of reference for the thousand and one receipts and articles needed in every household, farm, garden, etc., it includes clear and easily understood directions for the application of many of the Arts usually acquired only by long experience, and so divested of technicalities, or the technical terms used so fully explained, as to bring the entire subject within the comprehension of any person of ordinary intelligence. It would be difficult to find any one of the 6,422 paragraphs in this work (many of which contain several receipts) that is not worth at least the price of the book to the person desiring to apply it. A great number of them are original contributions prepared expressly for the Encyclopedia, or are to be found only in rare and costly works. The Scientific American says: "It is worthy of a place in the library of any home, work-shop, factory or laboratory." Prominent among the immense mass of subjects treated of in the book are the following:

The Art of Dyeing.
Hard, Soft and Toilet Soaps.
Tanning.
Distillation.
Imitation Liquors.
Wines, Cordials and Bitters.
Cider.
Brewing.
Perfumery.
Cologne Water and Perfumed Spirits.
Flavoring Essences, etc.
Cosmetics.
Hair Dyes and Washes.
Pomades and Perfumed Oils.
Tooth Powders, etc.
Syrups.
Alcohol and Alcoholmetry.
Petroleum and Kerosene.
Bleaching and Cleaning.
Scouring and Cleansing.
Vinegar.
Sauces, Catsups and Pickles.
Receipts for the Garden.
To Remove Stains, Spots, etc.
The Extermination of Vermin.
Pyrotechny and Explosives.
Cements, etc.
Soluble Glass.
Waterproofing.
Artificial Gems.
Inks and Writing Fluids.
Aniline Colors.
Liquid Colors.
Paints and Pigments.
Drying Oils and Dryers.
Tests and Re-agents.
Painting and Paper-hanging.
Kalsomine and Whitewash.
Oil and Spirit Varnishes.
Varnishing and Polishing.
Lubricators.
Japanning and Lacquering.
Boot and Harness Blacking.
Photography.
Metals and Alloys.
Soldering and Welding.
Amalgams.
Gilding, Silvering, etc.
Electrotyping, Electroplating, etc.
Medicinal Preparations.
Patent Medicines, etc.
Medical Receipts.
Weights and Measures.
The Metrical System.

The extent of this compilation, the care with which it has been edited and published, and the simple but thorough system of arrangement and index by which its contents are made available for use in practice, combine to render it a highly valuable book. We have examined it; the description and formulæ which it contains appear to be accurate and judiciously selected. The list of authorities quoted and consulted by Mr. Dick comprises the most eminent scientific periodicals of Europe and America, and goes far to guarantee the scientific value of his receipts. For the household, it is calculated to be a precious vade mecum; while the practitioner in any industrial art will find much in its pages of especial interest to him.--PROF. ROSSITER W. RAYMOND, in the Engineering and Mining Journal.

This work is one of the most valuable ever issued from the press. It embraces an immense variety of chemical and mechanical processes, the explanation of which is aided by a large number of engravings.—Leffel's Illustrated Mechanical News.

Mr. William B. Dick has been at the great pains of compiling, and Messrs. Dick and Fitzgerald have had the business enterprise to publish, an octavo of six hundred pages, entitled an "ENCYCLOPEDIA OF PRACTICAL RECEIPTS AND PROCESSES." It would be difficult to say what is not contained in this compilation in the way of domestic industry and household economy. We should think it might be almost invaluable as a companion, guide, philosopher, friend, and physician to the country gentleman. There is hardly an exigency in the daily routine of the family that we can imagine, in which it would not prove useful in its suggestions.—New York Evening Post.

In looking through the book one is amazed at the industry and investigation of the compiler. No department of science and art has escaped the vigilance of of this universal "receipter." If you are an honest man you can find in this ENCYCLOPEDIA what an honest man desires to know; if you are a scoundrel, all the methods of counterfeiting and adulterating are ingenuously exhibited.—Boston Globe.

ABBOTT (JOHN S. C.).

AMERICAN PIONEERS AND PATRIOTS. A series illustrating the early history and settlement of our country. Each in one vol., 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

COLUMBUS AND THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA.
DE SOTO, THE DISCOVERER OF THE MISSISSIPPI.
LA SALLE; HIS DISCOVERIES AND ADVENTURES WITH THE INDIANS OF THE NORTHWEST.
MILES STANDISH, THE CAPTAIN OF THE PILGRIMS.
CAPTAIN KIDD AND THE EARLY AMERICAN BUCCANEERS.
PETER STUYVESANT AND THE EARLY SETTLEMENT OF NEW YORK.
BENJAMIN FRANKLIN AND THE STRUGGLES OF OUR INFANT NATION.
GEORGE WASHINGTON AND THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.
DANIEL BOONE AND THE EARLY SETTLEMENT OF KENTUCKY.
KIT CARSON, THE PIONEER OF THE FAR WEST.
PAUL JONES, THE NAVAL HERO OF THE REVOLUTION.
DAVID CROCKETT AND EARLY TEXAN HISTORY.

These attractive volumes, illustrating the early settlement of America and abounding with tales of courage and fortitude and thrilling adventures among the savage tribes, are among the best books issued. They are written in the clear and picturesque style that makes the writer's works on the most interesting periods of French history so popular. The story of

"Boone," always a favorite with the young, is retold with singular vividness and freshness. In "Miles Standish" we have a picture of the hardships of the Pilgrims from the parting at Delft Haven to their perils in the wilderness, when threatened by famine and surrounded by savage foes. "De Soto" reads like a romance of the chivalric deeds of knight-errantry. His adventures among the Indian races, his grand discovery of the Mississippi, and his burial in its waters, have never before been told so clearly, connectedly and circumstantially.

"Christopher Carson" is the story of one of the most famous of the Western adventurers whose life is a romance of the wilderness.

"Peter Stuyvesant" gives a capital picture of the early history of New York before it passed into the hands of the English.

If a career of daring and successful undertakings, of gallant conduct in battle, of fearless enterprises at sea, is worthy of record, the life history of "John Paul Jones" deserves a place in our country's archives.

The life of "Crockett" is a veritable romance, with the additional charm of unquestionable truth. It opens to the reader scenes in the lives of the lowly and a state of semi-civilization of which but few can have any idea.

The wild and wonderful narrative of "Captain Kidd" forms a story which the imagination of Dickens or Dumas could scarcely rival.

"La Salle" was one of the purest and noblest of the pioneers of American civilization, and as such his history should be read and understood.

In "Columbus" we have again the story of the discovery of America, while the lives of "Franklin" and "Washington" take us among the times that tried men's souls, the dark days of the Revolution and the early years of the United States.

ABBOTT (LYMAN, D.D.).

A LAYMAN'S STORY. Being the Experiences of John Laicus and His Wife in a Country Parish. 16mo, cloth.

FOR FAMILY WORSHIP. Part I. Scripture Selections; Part II. Family Prayers. 12mo, cloth, red edges, $1.50.

FAMILY PRAYERS. 12mo, cloth, 50 cents.

"Dr. Lyman Abbott's book 'For Family Worship' will, I think, supply a real want. There are many people who desire to have regular family worship, but who do not feel equal to it without some such help as this book offers. Its Scripture passages are all pertinent to the occasions and ends for which they have been selected, and are so grouped as to be easily found when sought. Such of its prayers as I have read strike me as excellent. Many a young minister whose extemporaneous prayers are often unsatisfactory to both himself and his congregation may study them with profit."—Prof. E. G. ROBINSON, D.D., Brown University, Providence.

pendence. With 32 full-page illustrations by W. C. Jackson. A new edition. 4to, cloth, $2.00.

"We have never seen a book on the late war so lavishly illustrated and of more intense interest. Open its pages anywhere and one is fascinated by the absorbing interest of the narrative. To parents, a reviewer can say with perfect truth that he could name no book more likely to please a son as a Christmas gift than this."—Boston Advertiser.

"The story is pictorially told and well arranged, and the illustrations are a beautiful feature of the book."—Commercial Advertiser, N. Y.

"The author shows no partisanship that we can discover, his temper is cool and calm, and his style easy, pleasant, and effective. It is well done, very well done."—Literary World.

BATTLE-FIELDS OF '61. The initial volume of a History of the Land Forces of the War for the Union. 4to, cloth, with many illustrations by W. C. Jackson, $3.00.

"Nothing more vital, essential and desirable than this has appeared in the literature of the war. It is history concentrated in its thrilling episodes, its climaxes."—Journal of Education, Boston.

BATTLE-FIELDS AND CAMP-FIRES. The second volume of the History of the Land Forces in the War for the Union. 4to, cloth, with many illustrations by W. C. Jackson, $3.00.

Mr. Abbot uses in this new volume the same graphic style and impartial pen which have made his Blue Jacket series so well known to all young people.

ADAMS (CHARLES KENDALL), President Cornell University.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS. See "Makers of America." 12mo, cloth, 75 cents. In Press.

ALLEN (RICHARD).

MISS EATON'S ROMANCE. A Novel. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

ATWATER (Rev. E. E., D.D.).

THE SACRED TABERNACLE OF THE HEBREWS. With 50 full-page illustrations, 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

"The book bears the marks of careful thought and of a judicious mind. The Tabernacle is first described; its furniture, its services, and its purpose are considered. Probably no more accurate idea of what the Tabernacle was in itself, or in its relations to Jewish worship, can be obtained than by the study of this work."—The Presbyterian.

BAIRD (CHAS. W., D.D.).

A HISTORY OF THE HUGUENOT EMIGRATION TO AMERICA. 2 vols., 8vo, with maps and illustrations, $3.50.

"Dr. Baird's work is indeed one that will interest every lover of freedom, and every man who respects heroic conduct. Of course the descendants of the Huguenots, who preserve the old names and traditions, will find much in it to gratify them personally. But it is most to be prized for its excellent exposition of a very important popular movement that has not heretofore been fully measured by historians. Diagrams, maps, views of places, copies of documents, and other illustrations add to the value of this admirable production."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"Such an historical work as this appears only at rare intervals. The author has shown himself admirably fitted for his work, and his publishers have issued his volumes in a style befitting their dignity and merits."—The Capital, Washington.

"Its appearance is certainly well timed: near the opening of the very year in which the bi-centennial anniversary of the revocation of the Edict of Nantes is to be commemorated throughout the Protestant world. It is scarcely probable that any other work so rich in historic lore, so fresh and full of varied interest, will mark this memorable year. Dr. Baird is a born historian, and thoroughly qualified by his life-long studies, and especially by the extensive researches which he has made in the archives of France and Britain, as well as America. The result of his studies and labors is a work of great and permanent value, not only to those of Huguenot descent, but to all who take an interest in tracing the causes and reading the history of the early settlement of this continent."—New York Observer.

BANDELIER (ADOLF F.).

THE DELIGHT MAKERS. A Novel of Pueblo Indian Life. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Of this novel Dr. Francis Parkman writes: "Mr. Bandelier, whom I have known many years from his connection with the American Institute of Archæology, is one of the leading ethnologists and archæologists on this continent. In some departments, indeed, he has no equal. Aside from literary qualities, his novel, which I have carefully read, has a great scientific value, being by far the best picture of life in the Pueblos of New Mexico that has ever been made public. Mr. Bandelier has lived for years among these Indians, and their language, customs and ways of thinking and feeling are perfectly familiar to him. He has a vivid imagination and an excellent eye for the picturesque in life or scenery."

"I want to thank you for the pleasure I have had in reading 'Jan Vedder's Wife.' It is the most natural story I have read in years, and is delightfully fresh and true from beginning to end."—J. HABBERTON.

"'A Daughter of Fife.' A good story touchingly told in the sea-tongue of the Fife fishermen. These tender stories of broad Scotch dialect have a strong and mysterious hold upon the human heart."—Washington Post.

"'The Bow of Orange Ribbon' is a romance pure and simple. The love tale which forms the main thread of the novel is a singularly pure and touching one. The story contains abundance of incident, and moves rapidly and easily."—The Christian Union.

"The 'Squire of Sandal-Side' is one of those agreeable tales of a simple, broad rural life which Mrs. Barr tells so well. It breathes a large and wholesome atmosphere."—N. Y. Tribune.

"'Master of His Fate' is in some respects the most realistic of Mrs. Barr's novels. There is a keen power and fine discrimination in the character drawing that makes the book attractive and thoroughly entertaining in the reading."—The Gazette, Boston.

"Judging Mrs. Barr by what she has already accomplished and comparing it carefully with the productions, as wholes, of other American women in the same field, I do not hesitate to pronounce it superior to theirs in its entirety, however it may fall below in separate details. And so it seems to me Amelia E. Barr may very well rank as the foremost woman novelist of America."—OSCAR FAY ADAMS in Andover Review.

BATEMAN (CHAS. SOMERVILLE LATROBE).

THE FIRST ASCENT OF THE KASAÏ: Being Some Records of Service Under the Lone Star. By Charles Somerville Latrobe Bateman, Sometime Captain and Adjutant of Gendarmerie in the Congo Free State. Illustrated by 5 lithographs in color, 6 etchings, 2 maps, 6 full-page engravings on wood, and 40 smaller engravings in the text. 8vo, $6.00.

"Doubtless the chief claim to novelty and interest that my little work may be held to possess, lies in the fact that it is less a record of discovery than of life in a newly discovered land, and is a fair illustration of the raison d'être and practical working of the Congo State. I have viewed it as a portion of my own experiences: it is but fair that I should note that it is possessed of a much higher claim to public attention. It gives in a succinct form no inconsiderable section of the discoveries of the German expedition under Lieut. Wissman and Dr. Wolf, in which the paths of other explorers, Livingstone and Cameron, Stanley and others, are crossed and united."—From the Author's Preface.

"Lovers of quaint and delicious things in poetry will take delight in this collection. The author has in this volume grasped the most noted songs from the English dramatists, beginning with the writer of the first regular comedy and ending with Sheridan. The plan upon which the work is arranged furnishes the means of following the course of the drama historically, and tracing in its progress the revolutions of style, manners, and morals that marked successive periods."—Toledo Telegram.

"One may peruse this volume with more than the mere gratification afforded by a stroll through a museum of curiosities. The reader is under the care of an intelligent guide, who will explain what is shown and philosophize over what is explained, and in the course of the process impart a large amount of information, much of it novel and all of it entertaining. While for students of musical history and science the work has a special value, it is a contribution of scholarship for which all readers of useful books and all lovers of handsome books are in duty bound to be grateful."—Literary World.

DICTIONARY OF PAINTERS AND ENGRAVERS. A new edition from entirely new plates. Revised and brought down to date. 2 vols., imperial 8vo, cloth, $24.00. The same, half calf or half morocco, $36.00.

"Since the appearance of the last edition of Bryan's 'Dictionary of Painters and Engravers,' which was issued in 1849, the publication of many valuable works on art and monographs of artists, some of them embodying the results of careful researches among city records, guild-books, and church registers, particularly in Italy and in the Netherlands, has furnished many new sources from which material has been derived for the correction and enlargement of this work. Most especially is the editor indebted to the invaluable work of Messrs. Crowe and Cavalcaselle, Burckhardt, Milanesi and Morelli on the Italian painters, of Messrs. Crowe and Cavalcaselle, Weale and Kramm on Flemish and Dutch art, and of the late Sir William Stirling Maxwell on the artists of Spain.

"Besides the addition of a large number of names which were not included in the former edition or its supplement, new authority has been given to every one of the old entries by a careful revision, and in most instances by important changes. It is anticipated that the new matter introduced will enlarge the work to double its former size."—From the Preface.

"The moral tendency of the books by this author is of the highest character, and as she is wont to take a subject which brings her into the domain of religious history she teaches lessons of the greatest value to young and old."—New York Observer.

The "Chronicles of the Schönberg-Cotta Family" illustrate most charmingly a page of history; to young people the dullest and driest, perhaps, if it is to be learned by D'Aubigné's "History of the Reformation."

Kitty Trevelyan is a sweet, earnest-thinking English maiden who lived in the days of the Wesleys, and has her orthodox Church-of-England piety somewhat stirred and deepened by their lives and preaching.

In the "Early Dawn" the Christian life of England in the olden time is depicted through several centuries, from its earliest dawn, in its contrasted lights and shadows down to the morning star of the Reformation.

"Winifred Bertram" is a story of modern life with its scene laid in the heart of London.

"The Draytons and Davenants" starts with the first agitation of Protestantism as a political element in Great Britain, and proceeds through the civil wars that followed.

In "On Both Sides of the Sea," opening with the tragic scenes of the execution of Charles I., we have presented in the highly dramatic style of the author the establishment of the Commonwealth under Cromwell.

POEMS ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS. 2 volumes, 12mo, beautifully bound in cloth gilt, $4.00; half calf, $8.00; half levant, $10.00; full levant, $16.00.

These volumes are issued by arrangement with Mr. Dobson, and contain the two volumes originally published under the titles of "Vignettes in Rhyme" and "At the Sign of the Lyre." A considerable number of poems have been added, which now appear for the first time.

Edmund Clarence Stedman says: "In reviewing these poems I have felt like one who has the freedom of a virtuoso's collection—who handles unique and precious things, fearing that his clumsiness may leave a blemish or in some way cost him dear. Artist and poet at once, Mr. Dobson reminds me of Francia, who loved to sign his paintings 'Aurifex,' and on his trinkets inscribed the word 'Pictor,' and I have an impression that rarely of late has an English singer offered us more charming portraits, purer touches of nature, more picturesque glimpses of a manor which he holds in fee."

The Life of Red Eagle throws light on the Creek War, which broke out in Alabama in 1813, and was finally brought to an end by the bloody battle of Tohopeka, fought by Jackson in 1814.

In "Montezuma" the authors have told the ever-interesting story of the Aztecs and their last emperors in language at once simple and attractive. In "Brandt and Red Jacket" we have again the thrilling accounts of the struggles of our forefathers in the Middle States, while Pocahontas takes us to the first settlement of the Old Dominion.

EMIN PASHA IN CENTRAL AFRICA: Being a Collection of His Letters and Journals. Edited and Annotated by Professor G. Schweinfurth, Professor F. Ratzel, Dr. R. W. Felkin, and Dr. G. Hartlaub. With two portraits, a map, and notes. Octavo, $5.00.

Emin Pasha forms at the present time the central point around which all the interest of Central Africa revolves. This volume contains a collection of letters and extracts from journals which he sent to various correspondents in Europe during his residence in the Egyptian Soudan. We quote a few lines from the Introduction :

" From the very first this determined man threw himself heart and soul into his work, and as he sought a sphere of labor amongst people of foreign customs and modes of thought, he was perfectly willing to give up every external indication which might stand in the way of his obtaining an unhampered entrance into the Mohammedan world. Far away from large cities where, under the guise of fashion, European habits are continually undermining the ancient and crumbling customs of Islam, and at the same time covering them with a thick varnish, there obtains a certain distrust of a solitary European, which prevents the intimate relation that should characterize the intercourse of a doctor with suffering mankind. The German humanitarian believed it only possible to fulfil his office satisfactorily by permitting no external evidence of his Frankish origin to appear. The name he chose for this purpose was Emin, 'the faithful one,' and certainly no one has ever proved himself more worthy of bearing such a name as the description of his character. An extraordinary gift for the acquisition of foreign languages lightened his task, for, besides German, French, English, and Italian, he mastered several Slavonic languages, as well as Turkish and Arabic. He also commenced to learn Persian, and who knows in how many Central African dialects he may not now be at home?"

JOHN WINTER. A Story of the Harvest.
LIFE'S LONG BATTLE WON.

"There is a quiet charm about the writings of Edward Garrett, a simple purity of thought, a high, but unpretending range of sentiment, a tender piety without Phariseeism, an expression and fulfilment, in fine, of culture and modest Christianity, which is peculiarly satisfying to the soul in these times of worldly worry and worldly intensity."—N. Y. Evening Mail.

Mr. Garrett has done good service in giving these wholesome stories to the public. Without a word of preaching, each points unerringly to the right course, and not only young men and women, but older people, may learn many valuable lessons from their silent teaching.

"'Crooked Places' tells a healthful story of an English family reduced from wealth to poverty, who overcame trials, and emerged from their struggles purified and developed."—Christian Era.

"At Any Cost" has its commencement in the largest of the Shetland Isles, the wild, rugged scenery of which is brought vividly before the mind's eye, while the fresh, strong breezes of the North Sea come invigoratingly on the senses. The characters of the two youths, Tom Ollison and Robert Sinclair, are as far asunder as the poles, and their development in the course of the story preserves their peculiar lines of thought and modes of action intact. Although both young men achieve success in the world of London, where they arrive in company, their roads lie far apart, and to neither would the position attained by the other have presented anything in which to rejoice as the climax of his desires.

GIBBS (ALFRED S.).

GOETHE'S MOTHER. Correspondence of Catharine Elizabeth Goethe with Goethe, Lavater, Wieland, Duchess of Saxe-Weimar, and others. Translated from the German, with the addition of Biographical Sketches and Notes by Alfred S. Gibbs, and an Introductory Note by Clarence Cook. 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

"The most conspicuous name among the mothers of literary men is that of Catharine Elizabeth Goethe. It was from her that her famous son derived the elements of his greatness. 'This volume is made up of her correspondence with her son, Lavater, Wieland, and others. The addition of copious notes renders the work more nearly a biography than a simple compilation of letters. The atmosphere which one breathes in reading these familiar epistles is full of the most intense vitality, at once human and intellectual.'"—Boston Courier.

GILMAN (ARTHUR, M.A.).

SHAKESPEARE'S MORALS. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"This volume displays an intelligent mind at work amid the riches of Shakespeare collating and collecting kindred excellences. The scheme of the book is an arrangement of careful selections under heads that comprehend moral teachings. Joined with these extracts are brief collateral readings and Scriptural references. Thus we are offered a fair epitome of the utterances of Shakespeare on ethical and religious themes."—Boston Transcript.

The introductory chapters treat briefly the methods of measuring atmospheric pressure, temperature, and other meteorological phenomena, while the rest of the book is a detailed climatology of the United States. The various phenomena are fully discussed and illustrated by numerous maps which convey a peculiar interest to the book. The vast amount of material collected by the Signal Service and the State meteorological services has been made use of and makes the book a very complete and comprehensive review of the climatology of the United States."—Science.

HONE PHILIP (DIARY OF).

Edited with Notes, etc., by Bayard Tuckerman. 2 vols., large thick octavo, with portrait, cloth, $7.50.

Philip Hone, a member of an old Knickerbocker family, led a life of uncommon usefulness and prominence during the first half of the present century. He was one of the few men of his time in America who had the leisure to keep a diary and the varied experience to make such a record valuable to posterity. Having accumulated a considerable fortune as a merchant, he retired from business while still in middle life and devoted his energies to public services, both political and industrial. He held the office of Mayor of New York and for many years was high in the counsels of the Whig party. He was one of the founders of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. and of many similar enterprises when canals and railways were still experiments. As Vestryman of Trinity Church, Trustee of Columbia College and the Bloomingdale Asylum, President of the Bank for Savings and the Clinton Hall Association, a trusted officer of many other institutions, he was closely identified with the leading interests of the city. His diary extends from 1828 to 1845. The political life of these years is commented upon by one who was familiar with its inner workings. Daniel Webster, Martin Van Buren, with a score of their prominent contemporaries, are familiarly described and conversations with them recorded. A graphic description is given of the famous Tippecanoe election, in which Hone took an active part on the side of Harrison.

But probably the portion of this Diary which will be most eagerly read is that relating to the social life of New York. Hone was above all a man of the world and of pleasure, a bon-vivant and diner-out. He keeps a constant record of the dramatic amusements of the town when James Wallack acted and Fanny Ellsler danced. He was in the habit of writing down the names of the guests at his own dinner-table and of those whom he met at other people's.

The Knickerbocker of to-day will learn what company was present at his father's wedding, where his grandfather most frequently dined, and what people thought about him. The tone of the diary is always pleasant, the expression amusing and sometimes witty. Old New York, when the fashionable world lived in St. John's Park and Broadway, when Washington Square was a vacant lot, when Wm. B. Astor was young and the venerable John Jay yet alive, passes before us in these pages. The student of the history of New York will find Hone's diary a mine of information; the gossips of to-day will pause to enjoy the forgotten small talk of their grandmothers.

with memoir by John Gilmer Speed; and Letters, many of which have never before been published. With illustrations. 3 vols., post 8vo. Printed from type, by De Vinne. Only 350 copies printed, each copy numbered and signed, as follows: 4 copies on vellum; 12 copies on China paper; 55 copies on Whatman paper; 275 copies on Holland paper.

"The work is in three volumes, of which one is devoted to the letters and two to the poems. The volume of letters has been prepared by the grandnephew of the poet, John Gilmer Speed, Esq., and contains, in addition to those hitherto published, a number written by Keats to his brother George, in the United States. These were, to a considerable extent, memoranda of his daily doings, jotted down from time to time, so as to be ready for any chance vessel that might be sailing, and are full of most interesting references to his friends as well as expressions of his own feelings and aims, such as would only be made to those most closely related to him. None of these American letters have ever been published complete and unaltered, and many of them now appear in print for the first time. An introduction to the poems has also been written by Mr. Speed. The text of the poems is that prepared by Lord Houghton, whose notes have been retained. The volumes contain portraits of the three brothers, John, George, and Tom, reproduced in color from the originals in oil by Severn. In addition to the three portraits mentioned, there is an etching of the poet's grave, by Sabin; a fac-simile of the original draft of one of the author's smaller poems, showing his erasures and emendations; the silhouette of Fanny Brawne, the head of Keats drawn by Severn in his last illness, the drawing from life by Severn, and a reproduction of the life mask by Hayden."—Critic.

KRASZEWSKI (JOSEPH IGNATIUS).

THE JEW. A Novel, translated from the Polish by Linda deKowaleuska. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Kraszewski, the great Polish dramatist, archæologist, historian, publicist, enriched the literature of his country with more than a hundred volumes. Born in 1812, he died a political exile in 1887, and was buried with great pomp at Cracow, where over fifty thousand people assembled at his obsequies. His heart rests in the church of St. Croix at Warsaw, the place of his birth, where also reposes the heart of Chopin, the musician.

"The Jew" is a plea for Judaism in its higher spiritual and moral aspects. It is at the same time a remarkable picture of the various types of Jewish character, from lowest to highest, from the almost mediævally orthodox to the modern materialistic, mercantile Jew. The story is laid amid the last uprising of the Poles in the time of Napoleon III. The novel is not unlike in tone some of the greatest of the Russian stories which have lately attracted such wide-spread attention. Indeed, Kraszewski may be said to be the literary father of Tolstoi and the whole school of Modern Russian literature, since he was their predecessor.

to enter into all that came before their mutual observation. This union was so close that it becomes difficult to discern which is the brother and which is the sister. She was part not only of his life, but of his imagination."

LIFE OF JOHN DAVIS, Navigator, 1550-1605. In series of Great Explorers and Explorations. With maps and illustrations, 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"It is needless to say that the story of such a life as this must contain many useful lessons, and the learning and ability displayed in the choice and arrangement of the material render the book doubly attractive. It is fascinating as a tale of real and thrilling adventure; it is valuable as a masterly review of the relation of the work accomplished by a great explorer to what went before and followed after; and specially prepared maps, original illustrations and a good index complete the finish of the workmanship."—Academy, London.

deals largely in all the important efforts made by the Khedives Mehemet Ali Said Pasha, and Ismail in their efforts to become independent of Turkey, and to make Egypt a prosperous and powerful kingdom. It is a very able and complete account of the financial condition of Egypt; of the occurrences and decrees that made France and England the directors of the government for some years; a full statement of the relations of Egypt to the Porte; the administration of the government; an account of the Suez Canal, etc. The reading of it will give one a much better idea of the news we are daily receiving from Egypt and the Soudan.

OUR MOTHER TONGUE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Our Mother Tongue" is written with the view of enabling the reader, without the aid of any other instruction, to correct any defects and imperfections that may exist in his manner of speaking our common language. These defects are more numerous and serious than most speakers of English are aware, although conspicuous enough to all educated foreigners who come among us. They are found, in the first place, in the quality of the voice itself, then in our manner of using the voice, then in modulation, in articulation and pronunciation. All these points are treated in a thoroughly practical manner, the cause of the various defects being made clear, and detailed instructions given by following which they may all be cured. The remarks on modulation and the "speech tones" of conversation will probably be entirely new to the great majority of readers. A vocabulary is appended containing some thousands of words, commonly mispronounced in some way or another, and the correct pronunciation is given without the use of arbitrary signs, but yet in a way to be quite unmistakable.

Bishop Vincent, Chancellor of the University of Chautauqua, writes to the author: "I have read your admirable little work with great interest, and shall recommend it to all Chautauquans."

MEYE (HENRY).

STONE SCULPTURES OF COPÁN AND QUIRIGUÁ. With descriptive text by Dr. Julius Schmidt. With 20 plates. Folio, half morocco, $20.00.

The sculptured monoliths of Copán and Quiriguá, reproduced in the plates, rank indisputably with the most interesting and noteworthy monuments of tropical America. They clearly betray the end for which they were produced—to display, embodied in stone, to the population settled in these regions, and to hand down to after-generations the religious ideas and traditions which reigned in the spiritual life of these people. The number of places in Central America which at the present day attract attention by the presence of these monolith statues is by no means large—that is, if we look for an assemblage of many such statues on one spot. In most of the better known collections of ruins, the statues occur singly, or else, as in the case of Santa Lucia Cosumalhualpa, the sculptured figures are represented exclusively by reliefs.

SELECTIONS FROM ANCIENT SCULPTURE. 20 heliotype plates, printed in Berlin in the highest style of the art from original negatives taken expressly for Mrs. Mitchell, and intended to accompany her book. With descriptive text. In portfolio. Folio, $4.00.*

"Our author has brought to her stately task a thorough understanding of her subject, an exquisite modesty, and long years of thoughtful travel in lands where art was cradled and where its greatest glories were achieved." —Chicago Tribune.

"One of the most valuable contributions so far made to the history of art. Mrs. Mitchell treats of the productions of the sculptor's chisel in connection with all the different phases of life — religious, political, social, and æsthetic — to whose service they were devoted. Much light is thrown upon ancient art by a study of the institutions and history of the ancient peoples, and conversely, the study of all art-products enables us to reach a better understanding of the life and times of the people among whom they originated. The work will at once be accorded a place among the classics in art literature."—N. Y. World.

"One cannot turn to the pages of this great work of Rawlinson's without ever-growing wonder. It is a standing monument of one of the most marvellous of modern achievements. Almost the entire contents of these large and well-filled volumes, replete with information respecting the famous monarchies of ancient Asia, represent a positive addition to historical knowledge made within the present generation. The great empires of the East were but a few years since little but empty names. Some vague stories survived of the magnificence of their capitals and of the grandeur and exploits of a few kings, and the rest was a total blank. And now to our amazement we behold these empires, which had fallen to decay one after another, before the father of history began his gossiping narrative, rescued from the oblivion of ages, and we are set face to face with the long-buried forms of extinct civilization."—Christian Union.

REMBRANDT'S ETCHINGS.

Fifty of the most notable etchings of Rembrandt, reproduced in Paris by the photogravure process; with biography of Rembrandt, and descriptive and historical notes to each plate, by Chas. B. "The passion for his etchings is not simply a phase of the love of collecting, like the gathering of postage-stamps or fans or china. It is an instinct prompted by a love for pure art. No test of one's taste and higher cultivation is more sure than the love for and capacity of appreciating these marvellous works. They furnish an inexhaustible source of refined pleasure. Every line has its motive, every figure its purpose. One never tires of studying them, and each examination develops new beauties. They range in character, through all the successive gradations, from homely to grand. We are content to overlook the want of beauty in our admiration for the masterly fidelity with which the objects are presented to us. We seek, as artists have for ages sought, to detect and expose the secret of the artist's power, but we are in the end forced to the conclusion that he had no secret, except that he did the work before him better than any one else could do it. It was not a trick of the hand but the intelligence of the brain that served him so well. Doubtless his work will stand pre-eminent until some new artist shall rise equally keen in mind, steady of eye, supple of hand, and zealous in purpose."—From the Author's Preface.

BIRTHDAY MOTTOES, from the writings of E. P. Roe. With portrait and illustrations. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

WITHOUT A HOME.—"The ultimate design of the story is to trace the origin and growth, and exhibit the pernicious results of the morphia habit. Mr. Roe has graphically, and at times powerfully and dramatically, portrayed its influence to wither and destroy manhood and to wreck the happiness of the family. The harrowing incidents which are the consequence of the evil are not so ostentatiously exhibited as to be revolting, but are ingeniously distributed over a story that has a substantial and independent interest of its own."—Harper's Magazine.

NEAR TO NATURE'S HEART.—"His heroine is a pure child of nature, with a limited experience of life, and none of society; but her artless character combines a pleasure of noble principle, womanly devotion, and high-souled conduct, which is rarely found among the fruits of the choicest culture."—New York Tribune.

FROM JEST TO EARNEST.—"His plots are never commonplace. The change in Lottie's character is well delineated, and with a naturalness and artistic skill which we do not often find in the so-called religious novels."—Harper's Magazine.

A DAY OF FATE.—"It is a love story, pure and simple, of the type that belongs to no age or clime or school, because it is the story of the love that has been common to humanity, wherever it has been lifted above the level of the brutes."—New York Observer.

BARRIERS BURNED AWAY.—"We accord a hearty commendation to this work. The narrative is vigorous, often intense, but rarely if ever melodramatic. Its language is usually no less chaste than forcible and impressive. It betrays a power of invention and description which is not met with every day in the best of writers of popular fiction."—DR. RIPLEY, in the New York Tribune.

OPENING A CHESTNUT BURR.—"The character of the selfish, morbid, cynical hero, and his gradual transformation under the influence of the sweet and high-spirited heroine, are portrayed with a masculine firmness which is near akin to power, and some of the conversations are animated and admirable."—Atlantic Monthly.

A FACE ILLUMINED.—"The author does not, as is often the case, make the moral design an excuse for literary shortcomings. His characters are stamped with a strong individuality, and depicted with a naturalness that indicates a keen student of human nature and modern life."—Boston Traveller.

HIS SOMBRE RIVALS.—"A strong story. A study of love and of war; a tale of army service during the Rebellion, and of the home life that waited so anxiously on it. It is a study, too, of love and suffering, and an argument against atheism, but not a controversial one—the story itself is the argument."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HE FELL IN LOVE WITH HIS WIFE.—"The more I think over the book the better I like it in all its parts. Upon the whole I think that Mr. Roe has written the best American novel that has been published this year."—Julian Hawthorne in the N. Y. World.

NATURE'S SERIAL STORY.—"Mr. Roe has walked with us through happy valleys where peace and contentment brood, where we can hear the song of the bird and the merry jest of the reaper, and watch the alternate shadow and sunshine that dim and glorify the human heart."—Philadelphia Record.

"The chief elements of Mr. Roe's popularity as a novelist are a very exact understanding of the habits of thought of the great majority, sympathy with the ordinary passions and sentiments, respect for whatever is just and decorous, and, lastly, the art of telling a simple story in a simple and effective manner."—New York Tribune.

THE EARTH TREMBLED.—"The latest novel by E. P. Roe, who is the most popular American novelist, is one combining all his best characteristics. The story involves much of the war period, and is a strong and fascinating love-story. There is a high moral tone and a sympathetic fervor to Mr. Roe's writing that is always appreciated."—Boston Evening Traveller.

DRIVEN BACK TO EDEN.—"E. P. Roe is perhaps never better than when describing country life, for which he has a genuine enthusiasm; and his 'Driven Back to Eden' is perfectly free from sensationalism. The story is fully illustrated, and contains enough adventure to easily carry off the details of practical life, which the author gives with an air of authority that can only arise from experience."—Boston Courier.

AN ORIGINAL BELLE.—"The descriptions of battle scenes in the war and the lurid picture of the draft riots in New York are worth reading. Nothing that Mr. Roe has ever written is so vivid and dramatic as his sketch of the three terrible days in New York when the mob ruled the city, sacked the colored orphan asylum, and spread dismay in a thousand homes. It has the quality of history also, as the author has made careful research and employs no incidents which did not really occur."—San Francisco Chronicle.

SAND (GEORGE).

CONSUELO. Translated from the French by Frank H. Potter, Esq. 4 vols., 12mo, beautifully bound in cloth gilt, with gilt top, $6.00. Half calf, $12.00; half levant, $15.00.

"How we love Consuelo, that lofty intelligence, that noble heart, that admirable artist, in the chastely adventurous outset, at Venice, of her wandering life; in her first triumphs and her first sorrows; in her arrival on a tempestuous night at the awful castle of the Giants; throughout that whole phantasmagoria of ancient ruins and of great caverns; in her love, so long contending with terror, for the young Count Albert; in her flight; in her chance encounter in the fields with Haydn, then hardly more than a child; in fine, in that long journey the most delightfully fantastic that the imagination can conceive!"—E. Caro of the French Academy, Melville B. Anderson's translation.

THE GALLANT LORDS OF BOIS DOREE. Translated from the French by Steven Clovis. 2 vols., 12mo, bound uniformly with Consuelo. Gilt tops, $3.00.

In "The Gallant Lords of Bois Dorée" George Sand has given a delightful picture of the manners, ideas, and mode of life of the French nobility resident upon their estates in the first half of the 17th century. The scene is laid near Bourges, in the centre of France, where the authoress herself lived for so many years that the local and archæological details have the accuracy and value of an historical work. The principal character is a high minded and romantically-chivalric old Huguenot warrior, whose life has been spent in the service of Henry of Navarre. The political, social, and domestic relations of the times are so interwoven with the story of thrilling personal adventure that the tale commands the unbroken interest of the historical student as well as of the lover of romance and combat.

SAND (GEORGE).—CONTINUED.

THE HAUNTED POOL. (La Mare au Diable.) From the French, by Frank Hunter Potter. Illustrated with 14 etchings by Rudaux. Quarto, beautifully bound.

This charming story, rivaling "The Abbé Constantin" in its delicacy and purity, will, like it, be noted for the beauty and finish of its illustrations.

and tongues, with biographical and literary notes, are here found, and they make a work of sterling value. Good taste and sound judgment are manifested on every page of this collection. The editor's work is thorough, and deserves high praise. The subjects are classified, and an index of authors, with their works, renders the volume complete and convenient."—Christian Observer.

His work gives, as well, a true view of American life, literature, manners, and general civilization."—Boston Home Journal.

SHERIDAN (RICHARD BRINSLEY).

THE DRAMATIC WORKS OF. A new edition printed from type, and limited to 350 copies, on Japan and Holland paper. 3 vols. Sets on Holland paper, $15.00.* A few sets only on Holland paper can be furnished.

"It is printed from type by the house of De Vinne & Co., which is well known for the affectionate care bestowed by it upon the finer and more costly class of work, and the impression is limited to thirty copies on Japan paper and three hundred and eighteen on Holland paper. It may, therefore, be called an edition of luxury, and indeed by the beauty of the page, the perfection of the presswork, the excellence of the paper, and the severe style of the plain binding, it is entitled to the respectful consideration of the serious collector. Mr. White reviews the career of the author with vivacity and acuteness, and whatever else may be said of his introduction everybody will call it interesting."—New York Tribune.

STOCKTON (FRANK R.).

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED. A book for young people, with many illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

ARDIS CLAVERDEN. A Novel. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This novel is the longest and most important of the author's works. It is thoroughly American, the scenes being laid partly in the South and partly in New York, but there has been introduced into it a type of English character which has not yet been used in fiction. This type is found among the well-to-do English people who have adopted certain portions of Virginia as their homes.

The story contains more incident than any other of the author's novels. The adventures are of a varied character, including a deadly encounter in the black darkness of a cave, the hanging of horse thieves, a duel, and other scenes of dramatic action.

THE GREAT WAR SYNDICATE. A Novel. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"One of the best stories that Frank R. Stockton has ever told among his many good ones is the book entitled, 'The Great War Syndicate.' It is told in the author's best vein of humor, and displays to a remarkable degree the fertile imagination of which he is possessed."—Boston Home Journal.

THE STORIES OF THE THREE BURGLARS. A Novel. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"Mr. Stockton has an unlimited treasury of the odd and unexpected on which to draw. We never take up a volume of his without anticipating a fresh delight, and we rarely, if ever, lay one down without feeling that our expectations have been gratified. This is no exception to the rule." —The Churchman.

STORRS (RICHARD S., D.D.).

CONDITIONS OF SUCCESS IN PREACHING WITHOUT NOTES. Three lectures delivered before the students of the Union Theological Seminary, New York. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"This is the most valuable book that can be placed in the hands of a young man entering the ministry. In the first lecture the author gives a very interesting account of his own experience in the delivery of written and unwritten sermons. In the second he points out the specific conditions of success, especially those that are physical and mental, and in the third lecture those that are moral and scriptural."—United Brethren Tribune.

BROUGHT HOME. A powerful Temperance story. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

THE CREW OF THE DOLPHIN. 16mo, cloth. $1.00.

The author is one of the most finished of contemporary English writers, and brings to religious fiction a literary ability which would win a genuine success in more crowded fields.

"A book really great, and to those who have a relish for truth in life and art 'Bede's Charity' will be exceptionally welcome."—Evening Mail.

"'Hester Morley's Promise' is the history of a young girl's life, and a promise she fulfilled after her mother's death. It is one of the freshest and healthiest stories of domestic life we have had the pleasure of reading for a long time. There is a charming pathos pervading the volume, and at the same time the characters are natural, easy and graceful, and the book is delightfully entertaining."—Philadelphia Item.

"Of stories with a purpose, the year has produced none written with more power than Hesba Stretton's 'In Prison and Out.' This story is, perhaps, a trifle sombre, but in its pathetic pages there are pictures of prison-life which are drawn with great strength. The book is of absorbing interest."—Evening Mail.

"All honor to any writer who tries to raise men nearer to God, who endeavors to help men to resist temptation and urge them to feel and act kindly toward their fellow-men. Hesba Stretton's works have that tendency. We have read many of her stories, and testify that her readers cannot fail to be impressed with the beauty of purity of life, and with the duty of practical benevolence as incumbent upon Christians."—Jewish Advocate.

TUCKERMAN (BAYARD).

LIFE OF GENERAL LAFAYETTE. With a Critical Estimate of His Character and Public Acts. By Bayard Tuckerman. 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, with several portraits, $3.00; 50 copies on large paper, $8.00.

Until the publication of these volumes no critical estimate of Lafayette has been placed before the public. American patriotism and gratitude have obscured his conduct and character by indiscriminate eulogy, which, in its turn, has led to equally unjust depreciation. In England and France, party spirit has alternately exalted and condemned a career which was involved in so many burning controversies.

Another obstacle to a thorough investigation of Lafayette's character and acts has been the laborious research required by an examination of a public life which extended over nearly sixty years, and included three great revolutions. The authorities for the American Revolution, and for the crowded French period of history, from 1789 to 1830, are also the authorities for a life of Lafayette. The General himself left six volumes of letters and documents regarding his course. The publications issued in France alone to support or attack him number nearly three hundred. Many incidents in his life can be properly examined only by reference to unpublished letters and documents which are scattered through the collections of institutions and individuals, or stored in the archives of Paris and Washington.

Mr. Tuckerman, who has made a special study of this historical period, has had exceptional advantages in his investigation of Lafayette's life. He has had access to much new and original matter. A collection of controversial pamphlets relating to the General have been at his disposal. Through the kindness of collectors and historical societies he has had the use of valuable unpublished letters. The results of these are to be seen, for instance, in the account of the relations of Lafayette to Gouverneur Morris.

Both volumes contain portraits of Lafayette at different periods of his life.

Several editions of this great Indian drama have appeared abroad, but this, we think, is the first attempt to bring it to the notice of American readers. The best evidence of its appreciation by scholars is perhaps shown in Goethe's lines:

"Wouldst thou the young year's blossoms and the fruits of its decline,
And all by which the soul is charmed, enraptured, feasted, fed?
Wouldst thou the earth and heaven itself in one sole name combine?
I name thee, O Sakoontala! and all at once is said."

STUDENT'S EDITION. HISTORY OF PAINTING. Printed from the plates of the large edition. 2 vols., half roan, $7.50; half morocco, $12.50; half levant, $15.00.

"The work is a great treatise, broad as art itself in scope, scrupulously faithful in treatment, and founded upon scholarship the profoundest and most admirably balanced."—N. Y. Evening Post.

The amazing industry and learning of Professor Woltman is all his own; so is his fidelity to history as well as his painstaking conscientiousness. All this combined makes Woltman's work the best manual and the best reference-book on the history of Painting to be found in the English language.

INSPIRATION AND THE BIBLE.

AN INQUIRY BY

ROBERT P. HORTON, M.A.

From 4th English Edition. 12mo. 270 Pages. $1.25.

"We give the heartiest welcome to this book for the sake of what it is, and for the sake of the promise of what will be done by its author in the maturer years to which we trust he will be spared. To write a really fresh book on 'Inspiration' is a great achievement. And this is a fresh book. Mr. Horton has that to say which is worth saying, and he says it well. . . . We again very earnestly commend this really wise and conservatively toned work to our senior class teachers, who will find it invaluable as a help, if they allow it to direct their own studies."—Sunday School Chronicle.

"It will be found to be a good summary, written in no iconoclastic spirit, but with perfect candour and fairness, of some of the more important results of recent Biblical criticism."—Scotsman.

"Comprehensive and lucid in treatment, devout and frank in spirit, it is a timely contribution to this important doctrine."—Christian Leader.

"We must content ourselves with expressing a hearty approval of Mr. Horton's able and courageous treatment of his subject. A more rational, and at the same time reverent, handling of this difficult topic of inspiration could not be. . . . The churches owe him a debt of gratitude for this powerful apologia."
—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE MINISTRY OF PREACHING.

AN ESSAY ON

PASTORAL AND POPULAR ORATORY

By MGR. FÉLIX DUPANLOUP,
Bishop of Orléans.

Translated by SAMUEL J. EALES.

12mo. 260 pages. Cloth. $1.50.

"Among the many essays on the art of preaching none is likely to stand higher than that of Mgr. Dupanloup. Preaching has its art, and it is an art that no preacher can afford to neglect; but, as Mgr. Dupanloup shows in his most instructive preface, it is emphatically the art of artlessness, that is to say, the art of avoiding whatever can mar the clearness and simplicity of the truth to be delivered."
—Churchman.

"We wish that we could put into the hands of every candidate for the ministry, and every young preacher, Bishop Dupanloup's work on The Ministry of Preaching, for it is a book inspired by deep and sincere piety and dictated by common sense. The pastoral message, Dupanloup declares, should be at once living, instructive, apologetic, and hortatory. Under these heads he gives much natural and plain counsels or directions, which would inevitably raise the standard of our preaching were they remembered and carried into effect."—Christian Union.

PRACTICAL REFLECTIONS ON EVERY VERSE OF THE PSALMS.

By A CLERGYMAN.

With a Preface by CANON LIDDON.

12mo. Cloth. $2.00.

"The book consists of moral and practical reflections—gathered from the widest sources—upon each single verse of the Psalter. The object of the book is, therefore, devotional, and judging from the comments which we have selected, it has been well attained. It is not intended for the use of the student, but rather as a help to the devout mind which desires to see and know more of the spiritual depth of the Psalms. It is the work of devout and reverent care, very earnest and very thorough, and as such it is sure to be welcomed by many who are tired of learned discussions about the Psalms, but who are ready to learn more of the spiritual and Divine light which they contain."—Church Bells.

THE VOICE OF THE PRAYER BOOK.

BEING SPIRITUAL ADDRESSES BEARING ON THE BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER.

By the Rev. W. C. E. NEWBOLT, M.A.

16mo. 146 pages. Cloth. $1.00.

"'What do we mean by this service?' is the practical question which forms the keynote of the volume. Not in a deeply intellectual or historical sense, but in a plain, practical, immediate sense. 'What do you mean by this service? Can you enter heartily and practically into it?' Or again, 'Why do we have such a service at all? Is it waste of time? If not, tell me why?' This is the author's business throughout—if we may so express it—to give an intelligent and devotionally expressed answer to these practical questions."

FRIDAY'S CHILD.

By FRANCES.

12mo. Illustrated. Half White Cloth. 75 cents.

"One of the most touching and beautiful stories of child life which it has ever been our fortune to meet. Not a book for children—the pathos is too deep for the reading of any child, and no child could appreciate the wonderful beauty of character of the grave, wise, tender-hearted boy, in his implicit obedience and loyal love of truth, and his serene happiness in the companionship of the old heroes and martyrs of adventure, Sir Walter Raleigh and Ponce de Leon, and Henry Hudson and Sir Humphrey Gilbert, and Sir Hugh Willoughbie, that 'very noble knight' who was one of little Friday's 'dearest men.' To him they were none the less real and present companions, that they lived only in the pages of the great tomes, which his frail hands could barely manage. The picture of little Friday's life in the quiet old home and the high-walled garden, 'beyond which were travels,' is one of exquisite beauty; and nothing can be more charming than his conversations with the old under-gardener, retired to this peaceful occupation after thrilling years of Arctic exploration as a common seaman, who was always ready to hear Friday read his favorite passages, and whose wooden leg offered endless possibilities of conjecture, as 'If you cut it, did it hurt? Could you kneel down on it to say your prayers? Did you always have it? If so, what was it like when you were a little boy?' and so on. This old Zachary, with the Doctor—a young man who learned to understand this little child as no one but a pure-hearted young man, not far removed himself from childhood, can do—and the little dog Crusoe, were the child's dearest friends, second in his love not even to those book friends, who were no less real to him than they. To them he talked of his 'dearest men' of the olden time: to them, not forgetting Crusoe, he confided his longing after that 'Terrestrial Paradise' after which Columbus and Ponce de Leon, and many a pure-hearted worthy of old had longed, and to gain which they had endured such bitter griefs. But not one iota more bitter were their griefs, than those which the heroic little child was willing to endure in his quest, and which indeed in his way he did endure, walking at last like them through 'the Perilous Vale,' not without pain and awe, yet still 'without peril and without encumbrance, thanked be Almighty God,' and so winning after brief but heroic conflict 'his El Dorado, and the fountain of perpetual youth, and the Place of the Blessed all in one, beyond all disappointment and failure forever.' But it is a book which must be read to be appreciated."

—N. Y. Evangelist.

WIKKEY.

A SCRAP. By YAM.

12mo. Illustrated. Half White Cloth. 60 cents.

"A delightful story of a London street urchin, whose love for one of those young men who are in a very real sense what Mr. Ruskin says every man is, a king, was the means of bringing both of them to that higher love, of which the ignorant little bootblack's adoring and trustful affection was a beautiful type. There is no goody-goody in the story; the boy is a true street Arab, and the young man a perfectly natural, kindly, thoughtless young fellow, with a royal power over the hearts of those who knew him, and a very hearty and honest dislike of shams and affectation. But religion comes to them both in a perfectly natural way—a way which has in it a world of suggestion and stimulus to the reader. The book, though it will interest the young, will only be fully appreciated by older readers; it has an especial message to young men like Lawrence Granby."

—N. Y. Evangelist.

ONE LITTLE MUSTARD SEED.

By BETH LINN.

16mo. 239 pages. Illustrated. $1.00.

"Tells how a few girls, summering in a New Hampshire village, engaged successfully in Sunday-school and Home-missionary work. Modest and brief stories like this, in which human nature is real and denominationalism not obtrusive, are better worth circulating than more ambitious English 'books for girls.'"

—Sunday School Times.

BONNIE LITTLE BONIBEL, AND HER DAY OFF.

By MARY D. BRINE.

Illustrations by Miss Plympton. Large 12mo. Half White Binding. 75 cents.

"Is a fascinating juvenile story with a bright and charming tot of a child for a heroine, and a noble dog for a faithful companion. Nothing could be prettier and daintier in conception than the manner in which the child's adventures are told after she wanders away from home and loses herself; nor could anything be more artistic than the skill with which the author has dealt with her subject."—Boston Sat. Eve. Gazette.

"The attraction of the book is in its comprehension of child-thoughts and yearnings. It is safe to say that children of Bonibel's age, as well as those who are a good deal older, will delight in this bit of child history. Miss Plympton has supplied a number of excellent illustrations, and the book is handsomely printed."—Boston Beacon.

SEED, FLOWER AND FRUIT.

SUNDAY CHATS WITH LITTLE FOLKS.

By MAGGIE SYMINGTON.

12mo. Cloth. $1.25.

"We are glad to commend Seed, Flower and Fruit as a practical and interesting series of 'Sunday chats with little folks' about nature, morals and religion. It will please them and do them good. It is among the best books of its important class. The author has a natural gift for attracting and holding the attention of the young, and for delighting and edifying them at the same time."—Congregationalist.

A STORY OF FIVE.

By CHARLOTTE M. HOLLOWAY.

12mo. Cloth. $1.25.

A capital story capitally told, showing how a family of girls supported themselves.

WHOSE FAULT?

A Story by JENNIE HARRISON.

12mo. Cloth. $1.25.

"A very pretty love story told in a graceful and winning fashion and having a most excellent tone. It is, moreover, a love story with a purpose which in the minds of many readers will lift it above the importance of the average love story, however well told. The author has been impressed by the evil wrought by religious bigotry in modern life, and she has aimed some trenchant arrows against the spirit of narrow sectarianism which has caused and still continues to cause so much misunderstanding among very good people."—Boston Beacon.

Beyond. By HERVEY NEWTON. Elegant square 16mo. Laid paper. Cloth. 60 cts.

A presentation of the known facts of the conditions, occupations and characteristics of the world beyond.

We can best describe its character by an

EXTRACT FROM THE PREFACE.

The pictures and descriptions given by Revelation of the country "Beyond," are full enough to show it superior to the most favored bits of Eden of which this world knows. A real land, with homes, music, personal recognition, freedom from sorrow and from sin, the society of the Lord himself. They show the life there to have many of the conditions and pleasures that give this world its chief charm, with none of the infirmities, and with many added enjoyable conditions.

An author widely known in the Old World and the New, says:

"Those who doubt the recognition of friends in heaven should read 'BEYOND'! Those who do not doubt, but want confirmation of their belief should read 'BEYOND'!! Those who mourn dear ones gone before, and long for a realizing sense of the joys and occupations of the departed should read 'BEYOND'!!! This book is a poem, not in rhyme and metre, but in lofty sentiment, glowing imagery, and beauty of expression. It is a gem in clearness, purity and brilliancy. It is a book of fervent devotion, of holy love, and of the comfort of the Holy Ghost."

"Its pages do for the reader what the pen pictures of travelers in the East do for people at home."—Central Baptist, St. Louis.

"The book is excellent, and will help the Christian citizen on his way to his new country,"—The Evangelist, New York.

"Devoutly and impressively written and will afford rich subjects for meditations." Zion's Herald, Boston.

"We wish every young man in the country could read this admirable book."—Central Baptist, St. Louis.

"A charming book upon vital and significant phases of our social and religious life."—The Standard, Chicago.

"The new work by the pastor of Tremont Temple reminds one forcibly of a book which was very popular a quarter of a century ago, entitled "Life in a Country Parsonage," and which wrung tears from many an eye which is old now. Its title, 'Dollars and Duty,' declares its character immediately. A young man, the son of a clergyman, has presented to him the choice between a princely fortune and the ministry of God. He chooses the latter, but it seems to be a case in which the Scriptural prophecy, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you,' is fulfilled, as the wealth comes to him with his wife. The story is charmingly written, reminding one, in its religious tone, and sharp, terse sentences, of the writings of the late William M. Baker."—Daily Globe, Boston.

Earle's Wide-World Series for the People. By well-known writers. Fully and attractively illustrated. Octavo, with colored, illustrated cover. Well printed, on fine paper. 5 cents per volume.

This new venture on a series of popular stories for the people seeks to gratify the enormous demand for fiction, but to do it with stories thoroughly fascinating, striking, and even bordering on the sensational in style and illustration; but pure, clean, and helpful in every line and page, and thereby to take the place of the morbid, unhealthy, cheap literature that floods the country.

"We commend these stories, only wishing that they would kill the 'penny dreadfuls.' There is a fulness of gospel truth in most of these stories which makes us desire to see them widely scattered among the tale-lovers of the period."—Sword and Trowel.

"The class of pernicious literature sown broadcast among the peoplecan only be counteracted by a cheap and plentiful supply of entertaining literature of a better kind. This these stories supply, and they are of a nature that will commend them to the popular mind. They are captivating, stimulating, and entertaining."—The Christian News.

"These cheap and wholesome books are admirably adapted to counteract the pernicious literature that issues in such profusion from the printing press of these days. The precious lessons are so attractively interwoven with the incidents and accidents of daily life as to give the books all the charm of the inferior sorts they are meant to supersede. They are worthy of a broadcast circulation."—The Reaper.

"The Series will include some fifty volumes; the first eight are as follows: —

II. The Drummer Boy.	VI. Nobody's Darling.

The average father and mother have come to realize that to give a child manners and fine behavior, is to send him out into the battle of life with more certainty of success than with a big bag of gold in his fingers. The author of this new volume on behavior has laid the public under obligation for a work that treats of manners from the good old basis of kindliness of heart and cleanliness of character, and has freshened and enforced her variety of topics with abundant illustrations out of every-day life. It is a book to make society not only careful in the outward forms and rules of social intercourse, but also in the cultivation of those finer qualities of heart that give fragrance to the courtesies of life.

Science and Immortality. This book is a reproduction of that interesting scientific discussion by many of the most eminent scientific men in this country and in England on "What Science says about Immortality." Among the contributors are: Charles A. Young, LL.D., James D. Dana, LL.D., Asa Gray, LL.D., Joseph Leidy, M.D., LL.D., Simon Newcomb, LL.D., J. P. Lesley, Lester F. Ward, A.M., Edward S. Morse, Ph.D., Josiah Parsons Cooke, LL.D., Edwa d D. Cope, A.M., Ph.D., Sir J. William Dawson, LL.D., F.R.S., J. Sterry Hunt, LL.D., F.R.S., William James, M.D., Benjamin Apthorp Gould, LL.D., Alfred R. Wallace, LL.D., Rev. Thomas Hill, D.D., Asaph Hall, LL.D., Elliott Coues, M.D., Ph.D., Herbert Spencer, Charles S. Peirce, Daniel Coit Gilman, LL.D., and Prof. T. H. Huxley. Since the first publication of the "Symposium," the contributions have been carefully revised; and additional contributions have been received from Gen. A. W. Greely, U.S.A., Prof. Ed. C. Pickering, Dr. Ira Remsen, Alex. Graham Bell, F. A. P. Barnard, S.T.D., LL.D., and Prof. Joseph Le Conte. The book also contains carefully written notes on the testimony by Rev. Samuel J. TALBOT (George Foster). Jesus: His Opinions and Character. The New Testament Studies of a Layman. Crown octavo. 471 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

"Much time and profound study have been needed for the thoughtful work entitled 'Jesus: His Opinions and Character. The New Testament Studies of a Layman.' Whoever the layman may be, he is one accustomed to dealing with evidence, which he treats in a lawyer-like fashion, and in a peculiarly direct and simple style. While his conclusions will be classed by many as rationalistic, in that they make Jesus simply a great moral teacher, and set aside as fabulous much of the Scripture on which theological dogmas have been based, the tone of the volume is still reverent and high. There is neither the sentimentality nor the adulation of Renan and his school, as if dethroned Deity were to be appeased by compliments; nor is there the unnecessary sneer, the offensive irreverence of another school. The writer is one of that great sect of 'seekers' the nineteenth century furnishes,—eager for truth, and accepting its highest teachings everywhere. He deserves respect as an honest and earnest thinker. The volume is handsome and substantial, and there is a careful table of contents."— The Continent, Philadelphia.

ESTERBROOK'S

MAMMOTH FALCON PEN,

No. 340.

We desire to call the attention of the Trade to the "MAMMOTH FALCON" PEN, which is represented by the engraving, both as to form and size.

Brought out originally as a useful novelty, it has now become an established favorite.

It has a medium fine point and a remarkably easy action which cannot be obtained in a smaller pen.

Its firmness and smoothness of point render it especially adapted to the use of Bank Officers, Tellers, Entry and Shipping Clerks, Correspondents, etc.

This pen will, we think, make a very desirable addition to a stationer's stock. We ask for it a trial from those dealers who may not hitherto have kept it in their assortment, feeling assured it will have an extensive popularity.

For prices and styles of doing up see catalogue, page 18.

CAUTION.

After over thirty years' trial by the writing public, "ESTERBROOK'S PENS" are conceded to be the most popular now in use.

They are being largely adopted and giving the best satisfaction in the Public Schools and Commercial Colleges of the principal cities in the UNITED STATES and CANADA.

Owing to their popularity they have the same obstacle to overcome common to all goods of merit, namely,—Imitation

The genuine have the name of "ESTEBBROOK & Co." stamped on each pen, and a facsimile of their signature on every box, as below, which is sufficient guaranty of their quality and genuineness.

R. Esterbrook & Co.

THE ESTERBROOK FALCON PEN.

No.

This is a pen suitable for the general business writer. It has a degree of fineness equally between a sharp-pointed and a coarse pen, an elasticity sufficient to enable it to write with ease and freedom, a shape holding a fair supply of ink, and a size that of a good commerical pen Its popularity has been tested by the constantly increasing demand for many years, and the name, "The Esterbrook Falcon Pen," has passed into the list of household words, it being undoubtedly the most approved business pen in the United States

As in every case where a staple manufacture has proved a success, a number of imitations have been placed on the market, which are not adapted for general use, and lack the peculiar characteristics of our make. The color most generally approved for the Falcon pen is bronze, but we make them in gray and black, also in copper, nickel, and gold-plated.

LATEST ADDITIONS.

The latest additions to the list are the

No. 442, Jackson Stub Pen.
" 453, Business and College Pen.
" 477, Postal Pen.

Both of the two former styles are in the interests of writers desiring smooth, easy, rapid action. There has been for many years a demand for a short nib pen with the "Falcon" shape, which is now supplied by the No. 442. The No. 477 has been added to the line of turned-up point pens, which have become so very popular. Its size being longer than either of the others of the series renders it a specially serviceable and easy writing pen. The No. 453, Business and College, is larger than the usual styles adopted in schools. It is fine pointed, fairly elastic, and a smooth writer.

All these three new styles will be found desirable goods, and no stationer should be without them.

THE SCHOOL SERIES.

Special attention is called to our School Series, including the following popular styles:

No. 128, Extra Fine Elastic,
" 333, Extra Fine.
" 444, School Medium.
No. 135, Double Elastic.
" 453, Business and College.

These have been largely adopted in the public and private schools and commercial colleges throughout the United States, and are recommended as good, serviceable Pens, and well adapted for general school requirements.

NOTICE.

Dealers are requested, in ordering Pens, to designate them by the number, and in the case of the new styles, 340, 343, and 344, by the number and letter.

For convenience sake the different grades of Pens may be classified as follows, three representative numbers being given for each style:

Fine Pens,	Nos. 333, 444, 232.
Elastic Pens,	" 128, 126, 135.
Medium Business,	" 048, 14, 130.

This large and handsome volume is a companion volume to Charles Carleton Coffin's "Boys of '61," and rivals it in point of interest. Its author, Professor J. Russell Soley, collected his materials from the archives of the Navy Department at Washington. He traced the development of the American Navy from Revolutionary times down to and through the war of 1812. As all boys know, or should know, the great battles of that war were fought upon the water.

In addition to the story of the naval achievements of 1812, several additional pages are devoted to a recital of the deeds of our navy during the war with Algiers in 1815 and with Mexico in 1847-8. The volume contains a number of excellent full-page illustrations.— Boston Evening Transcript.

It has not been hastily written to meet a sudden popular demand, but is rather the result of conscientious labor in leisure hours for several years, and it will unquestionably be a welcome visitor in thousands of families all over the land in which Miss Parloa's name and fame alike are familar. The book describes minutely an ideal kitchen, tells what furniture, utensils and stores should be provided for it, explains clearly the uses, and states the value of various kinds of food, contains bills-of-fare for all sorts of occasions, shows how tempting meals may be quickly cooked when unexpected guests come, gives explicit instructions about diet for the sick, and includes also as choice a collection of receipts in all departments of cookery as can be found in any ever published. It is thoroughly practical; it is perfectly reliable; it is marvelously comprehensive; it is copiously illustrated; it is, in short, overflowing with good qualities, and is just the book that all housekeepers need to guide them in their daily duties, and to enable them to make their homes happy.

The Pocket Encyclopædia

OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE. Embracing history, biography, art literature, science, geography, chemistry, natural history, astronomy, and countless other subjects. The LARGEST amount of information in the MOST COMPACT FORM EVER YET PRODUCED. This wonderful little volume of 1,200 columns in beautifully printed type pages, has no parallel in the history of literature. It is not only a Complete Dictionary, absolutely correct both in definitions and pronunciation, but it treats of MORE SUBJECTS than many encyclopædias of several volumes do. INVALUABLE AS THE CHEAPEST AND HANDIEST OF REFERENCE BOOKS. Just think of it! In one small volume of 600 pages, literally small enough to be carried in the pocket, there are 25,000 topical sub-divisions embracing nearly 100,000 subjects treated of! MORE THAN CHAMBER'S OR APPLETON'S. This seems incredible until an examination is made of the ingenious but simply and easily understood system of abbreviations and signs used. The mechanical execution of the Encyclopædia is perfect.

WORKS ON MAGNETISM.

There is now an increasing interest in the facts relating to Magnetism, Hynatism, etc., as the people are awakening to the importance of a knowledge of the subject, and we present below a list of the most important Works published.

Practical Instructions in Animal MAGNETISM. By J. P. F. DELUZE. Translated by Thomas C. Hartshorn. New and revised edition, with an appendix of notes by the Translator, and Letters from eminent physicians, and others. 524 pages, 12 mo, extra cloth, $2.00.

The above work was out of print for several years, but believing it to be in many respects the best, in fact the only exhaustive work containing instructions, we have been led to publish a new and revised edition. The following selections from chapter-headings will show something of the nature of this: "THE PROCESSES CONSIDERED; THE EFFECTS AND THEIR INDICATION; THE ACCESSORY MEANS TO INCREASE MAGNETIC ACTION AND THOSE BY WHICH THE DIRECT ACTION IS APPLIED; THE CAUTIONS NECESSARY IN THE CHOICE OF MAGNETIZER; THE APPLICATION OF MAGNETISM TO DISEASE AND ITS CONNECTION WITH DISEASE; THE MEANS OF AVOIDING INCONVENIENCES AND DANGERS; THE MEANS OF DEVELOPING IN ONE'S SELF THE MAGNETIC FACULTY, AND DERIVING ADVANTAGE FROM IT." In the notices of the first edition of this work, the Boston Med ca and Surgical Journal said: "Aside from any particular feelings of dislike or partiality for the subject of Magnetism, candor obliges us to acknowledge that this compact manual is a very captivating production. There is a peculiar manifestation of honesty in the author, who writes what he considers to be substantially true, without any reference to the opinions of the world. Having no guile himself, he seems to be unwilling to believe that any one else can be induced by bad motives. Fully aware of the ridicule to which the devotees of Mesmerism have been subjected, he shows no disposition to shun the criticism of those who have endeavored, from the very beginning, to overthrow the labors of those who are toiling in the new field of philosophy."

By BENJAMIN WILSON. 884 pp. 1 vol. 12mo, $4.00; extra fine binding, $5.00.

The different renderings of various passages in the New Testament are the foundations on which most of the sects of Christians have been built up; with this work, each reader may judge for himself, whether the words there literally translated are so arranged in the common version as to express the exact meaning of the New Testament writers. It will be found a great aid to the proper understanding of many portions of the New Testament. To clergymen who have a slight but not thorough knowledge of Greek, to those who have none, and to all Sunday-school teachers it will be found almost indispensable when once used.

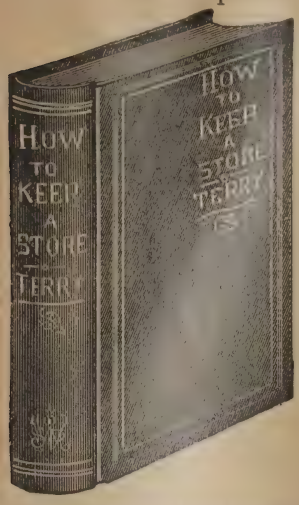
How to Keep a Store:



Embodying the conclusions of thirty years' experience in Merchandising. By Samuel H. Terry. 12 mo, 406 pp. Sixteenth ed. Clo.,$1.50.

This is a book worthy of being owned and read by every enterprising business man, for while not offering any "short and easy method" of metamorphosing unthrifty blockheads into successful financiers, it is a profitable prompter for go-ahead merchants, who would make the most of their business, and for wide-awake clerks who are ambitious to become successful tradesmen. It is not theoretical, but practical, embodying the conclusions of a man who "has been through the mill," and writes what he knows, not what he guesses, without flippancy or mere "smartness," but whose diction is lucid, pleasant, straightforward, interesting, ringing, and business like, so that if you open at any page you will want to read on. Clerks may be assured that in it are points of information that will qualify them for higher positions with increased salaries, and prove the best investment they ever made; and even the experienced business man, who is "never too old to learn," needs the world's experience as well as the experience of the world, and knows that a comparison of views is sometimes beneficial, and that no one is so wise but that they may easily err if they take no other counsel than their own. The press is unanimous in commending it, thousands of copies have been sold to the best merchants, whose universal testimony is in its praise, and we have yet to hear from the first purchaser not delighted with his book.

While other treatises have been general rather than specific, this one goes straight to the mark.—Am. Grocer, N. Y.

Especially adapted to trade in moderate-sized towns rather than large cities.—Bradstreet's Com. Journal.

The author has always had his eyes open.—N. Y. Mercantile Journal

Gives actual experience.—The Book-keeper, N. Y.

It is not intended as a substitute for training and experience, but as an aid to men already in business.—N. Y. Star.

Every merchant believes he understands this subject better than his neighbor, but some merchants remain poor while some neighbors become rich.—Boston Globe.

Every storekeeper should see that it is placed in the hands of his clerks if he would have them intelligent workers with him, and not mere machines or "counter-jumpers."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

His views will commend themselves to the moralist and the hard-headed man of business.—N. Y. Independent.

Hardly any sane man would undertake the practice of law or medicine without months of previous study. The art of buying and selling goods requires as much study as either of them. Christian at Work.

Worth ten times its cost.—Boston Grocer.

An able work.—San Francisco Grocer.

To every merchant, from the city to the cross-roads, its contents are worth years of experience.—Home Weekly, Xenia, O..

The author writes with shrewdness.—Cincinnati Com. Gaz.

His suggestions are varied, comprehensive, and valuable.—Detroit Free Press.

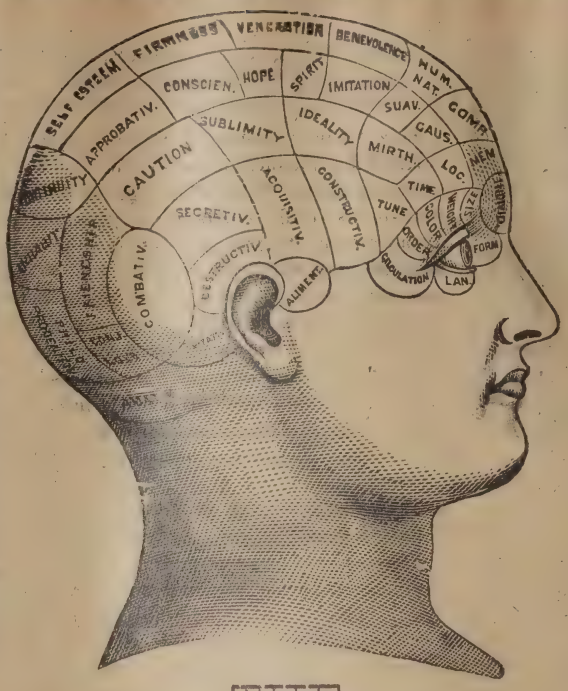
A Choice of Premiums.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL CHART.

A handsome symbolical Head, made from new and special drawings designed for the purpose. The pictorial illustrations show the location of each of the Phrenological organs, and their natural language. It will help to locate readily the faculties, and at the same time give a correct idea of their functions. The Head is about twelve ins. wide, handsomely lithographed in colors and on heavy plate paper about 19 x 24 ins., properly mounted, with rings for hanging, or may be framed, and will be very attractive wherever it is seen. Price, $1.00. Is given to each new subscriber, or the Bust Premium.



THE PHRENOLOGICAL BUST.

This bust is made of Plaster of Paris, and so lettered as to show the exact location of each of the Phrenological Organs. The Head is nearly life-size, and a very ornamental, deserving a place on the centre-table or mantel, in parlor, office, or study, and until recently has sold for $2.00. This, with the illustrated Chart which accompanies each Bust, should be in the hands of all who would know "How to Read Character." It is now offered as a Premium to each new year's subscriber to THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL, or we will send the Chart Premium.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL

Is widely known in America and Europe, having been before the reading world fifty years, and is occupying a place in literature exclusively its own, viz., the study of HUMAN NATURE in all its phases, including Phrenology, Physiognomy, Ethnology, Physiology, etc., together with the "SCIENCE OF HEALTH," and no expense will be spared to make it the best publication for general circulation, tending always to make men better physically, mentally, and morally. Parents should read the JOURNAL, that they may better know how to govern and train their children. Young people should read the JOURNAL, that they may make the most of themselves. It has long met with the hearty approval of the press and the people.

N. Y. Tribune says: "Few works will better repay perusal in the family than this rich storehouse of instruction, which never fails to illustrate the practical philosophy of life, with its lively expositions, appropriate anecdotes, and agreeable sketches of distinguished individuals."

N. Y. Times says: "THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL proves that the increasing years of a periodical is no reason for its lessening its enterprise or for diminishing its abundance of interesting matter. If all magazines increased in merit as steadily as THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL, they would deserve in time to show equal evidences of popularity."

Christian Union says: "It is well known as a popular storehouse for useful thought. It teaches men to know themselves, and constantly presents matters of the highest interest to intelligent readers, and has the advantage of having always been not only "up with the times," but a little in advance. Its popularity shows the result of enterprise and brains."

Sunday-School Times says: "A great amount and variety of useful and and instructive matter finds its way into this PHRENOLOGICAL monthly. It is progressive and liberal, in the good sense of those terms—a readable, valuable journal."

TERMS.

The Journal is published monthly at $1.50 a year, or 15 cents a Number. To each new yearly subscriber is given either the BUST or Chart Premium described above. When the Premiums are sent, 15 cents extra must be received with each subscription to pay postage on the JOURNAL and the expense of boxing and packing the Bust, which will be sent by express, or No. 2, a smaller size, or the Chart Premium, will be sent by mail, post-paid.

Containing every word in alphabetical order, arranged under its Hebrew or Greek original, with the literal meaning of each and its pronunciation. Exhibiting about 311,000 references, marking 30,000 various readings in the New Testament. Designed for the simplest reader of the English Bible. By Robert Young, LL.D. Fourth revised authorized edition, printed on heavy paper. One large volume, 4to, cloth, $5.00; sheep, $6.00; French imperial morocco, $7.00; half morocco, $9.00; full morocco, $12.00. ☞This is the only authorized edition in America.

Points of Superiority over Cruden's Concordance:

1. Young's exceeds Cruden's unabridged by over 118,000 references.
2. Young's contains over 70,000 Greek and Hebrew original words—all analytically arranged under their English title. Cruden's has not one—a lack greatly lessening its usefulness to the critical scholar.
3. Young's is analytical in character, giving the various shades of meaning of several related words which in English are represented by one word. Cruden's is synthetical, and makes, as the basis of its parallel references, the English word only.

"Worthy of the lifetime of labor spent upon it."—John Hall, D.D.

"By far the most complete Concordance in the English or any other language."—Philip Schaff, D.D.

"Cruden's Concordance is child's-play compared with this gigantic production."—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

"It must be admitted that upon the shoulders of Julian Hawthorne has descended, in no small degree, the mantle of his more illustrious father. The climax of this story is so terrible, and so dramatic in its intensity, that it is impossible to class it with any situation of modern fiction."—The London Times.

BEFORE AN AUDIENCE; or, the Use of the Will in Public Speaking. Talks to the Students of the University of St. Andrews and the University of Aberdeen. By Nathan Sheppard. 12mo, cloth, 75 cts.

"I shall recommend it to our three schools of elocution. It is capital, familiar and racy, and profoundly philosophical"—Joseph T. Duryea, D.D.

"They are very racy and earnest talks, full of sense, and most delightfully dogmatic. The author knocks to flinders the theories of elocutionists, and opposes all their rules with one simple counsel: 'Wake up your will.'"—The N. Y. Evangelist.

"Elocutionists, take notice! Your craft is in danger, your occupation is threatened! That is to say, if public speakers will heed the advice of the author of this book. How many beautiful stories of the advice given by actors and orators he spoils! How many beautiful bubbles he bursts! The 'talks' are decidedly interesting, witty and philosophical. No public speaker can fail to get much good from Mr. Sheppard's suggestions, and no one can fail to find every page of real value."—National Baptist.

Other Theological Works.

Oehler's Old Testament Theology.	Peters' Theocratic Kingdom (Eschatology), 3 vols.

This "Bible Students' Library" is essentially theological in character. The works are carefully edited—many of them by eminent American scholars. The type is clear and the binding is chaste, strong and durable, yet flexible enough to open flat without a spring in the leaves, so annoying in works of reference. We append two of the many testimonials from eminent American scholars as to the workmanship of "The Bible Students'" edition:

"You have my opinion as to the great merits of the work (Pusey). Let me add that your edition is most attractive in appearance and convenient in size and shape."—Morgan Dix, D.D.

"I have given you my estimate of Pusey. I will add that your edition is most admirable. My edition was large and cumbrous—almost like a family Bible; but your edition is the very thing for the student. Its size, handy; its type, clear, and its whole appearance a credit to American typography and manufacture."—William M. Taylor, D.D.

BIBLE TREASURY. See "Analytical Bible Treasury."

BIBLICAL LIGHTS AND SIDE-LIGHTS; or, Ten Thousand Biblical Illustrations, with Thirty Thousand Cross-References, consisting of Facts, Incidents, and Remarkable Statements for the use of Public Speakers and Teachers; and also for those in every profession who for illustrative purposes desire ready access to the numerous and interesting narratives contained in the Bible. By Rev. Charles E. Little. 8vo, 632 pp., cloth, $4.00; sheep, $5.50.

"Other books are designed to illustrate the Bible. This reverses the order, and furnishes illustrations from the Bible for every purpose. It meets a want which the concordance cannot supply, because the latter is limited in its references to the words in which the Bible is printed. This work takes topics, such as 'ambition,' 'amusement,' and draws from the Bible illustrations and reference applicable to such topics. It is very comprehensive, and is valuable as an aid to centralizing thought."—The Christian Intelligencer, New York.

The description of the localities as they now appear is based, although not exclusively, on the works of Robinson; their reproduction in their older form is based on the notices scattered in Josephus, the Talmud, and the Midrashim, for which the author was not restricted to those already collected by Reland; Lightfoot, Schwarz, and Neubauer. The illustrations of the times and of the life of the people are in nowise the work of fiction; they are throughout drawn from the oldest Jewish literature.

DEATH OF HEWFIK PASHA. A Confession. 12mo, cloth, 60 cts.

It will serve to recall the mystery and excitement caused some years since by the assassination of Hewfik Pasha, ex-Prime Minister of the Sultan. This claims to narrate the circumstances which led up to the murder, and to be the confession of the person who did the deed.

DESTRUCTION OF GOTHAM, The. By Joaquin Miller. 12mo, cloth, $1; pap., 25 cts.

This is a most graphic story of the times, showing the conflict between the upper and lower stratas of society in New York, ending in a great disaster to the city itself. It is an intensely interesting and powerful story. Joaquin Miller is a writer whose fame is world-wide.

"His writings are charged with passionate life, and display a fervor of poetic appreciation and sympathy, combined with startling beauty and power."—The London Times.

"To follow him is like following a keen, swift rider, who rides eagerly, it matters not whither, and who attracts us by a wild grace and beautiful skill as he rushes through scenes of luxuriant loveliness, that would cause a less impetuous horseman to pause and linger."—The London Globe.

DICTIONARY OF LIVING DIVINES. Being a Supplement to the Schaff-Herzog Encyclopædia. By Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., and Rev. Samuel M. Jackson. Large 8vo, cloth, $3.00; sheep, $4.00; half morocco, $5.25; full morocco, $7.00.

This book is a complete and authentic cyclopædia, with biographical sketches of all the prominent living preachers, theological professors, church dignitaries, religious authors and editors, and other Christian workers, of all churches and all countries.

It is intended as a supplement to the Schaff-Herzog Religious Encyclopædia published in 1884, in three volumes; that work excluded men now living, as did also the German Encyclopædia of Herzog.

Besides living celebrities, the volume includes sketches of divines who have died since the completion of the Religious Encyclopædia (1884) and a few others who were inadvertently omitted.

The editors have aimed at the greatest possible accuracy and completeness, as well as strict impartiality, in the desire to make a useful and reliable book of reference for readers of all denominational and theological schools.

"What gigantic diligence; masterly, minute precision; entire reliability; inexhaustible wealth of matter."—Professor Dr. Kurtz, Germany (Church Historian).

"This is a work which must have cost immense labor and research, and is a very useful and interesting compilation. By its breadth of inclusion it has a corresponding extent of worth, for it serves to introduce the leading Christian workers of either country to their brethren of the others. It is impartial in its outlook, embracing men of all denominations of Christians in the two worlds, and though the notices are necessarily brief, they are full and complete in their record of essential facts. It will become a standard book of reference for readers, and especially writers for the periodical press, who have here at hand information for which they might search far and wide, and sometimes without success."—The Watchman, Boston.

EDWIN ARNOLD AS POETIZER AND AS PAGANIZER; Containing an Examination of "The Light of Asia" for its Literature and for its Buddhism. By William Cleaver

Wilkinson. 12mo, 177 pp., paper, 15 cts.; cloth, 75 cts. (S. Lib., 128.)

"Mr. Wilkinson strikes his foe with a smile and a bow, and with true knightly good nature, but his rapier is sharp both at the point and along the edge. As to the historic truth and the wholesome quality of Arnold's poem, Mr. Wilkinson had a strong case to begin with, and it grows stronger in his hands. He deserves well for his assiduous examination into the facts, and for the full and complete way in which he has gone over the whole poem. His examination is all the better for the excellent spirit in which it is conducted, the good-natured humor and wit it brings into play, and the nice and even playful turn given to many of his hardest hits."—The Independent, New York.

EVERY-DAY RELIGION. See "Talmage's Sermons."

FINAL SCIENCE; or, Spiritual Materialism; being a strict Application of the most approved Modern Scientific Principles to the Solution of the deepest Problems of the Age. 12mo, 75 cts.

Agnosticism receives a deadly thrust at the hands of this distinguished writer, who prefers to withhold his name. He writes as a Materialist of the most advanced school, and the purpose and scope of the book are to reconcile the established facts of science to his theory of Atheistic Evolution as "The Final Science." Of course, he utterly fails in the attempt, and yet he clings to his scientific theory. The lesson is obvious. There is great skill and marked ability displayed.

HISTORICAL LIGHTS; or, Six Thousand Historical Extracts, illustrating Thirty Thousand Topics. Especially arranged for Ministers, Lecturers, Public Speakers, Writers for the Press, Lawyers, and all who have Occasion to use Illustrations drawn from Historical Literature. Compiled by Rev. Charles E. Little, author of "Biblical Lights and Side Lights." 8vo, 900 pp., cloth, $5.00; sheep, $6.50.

These "Lights" are a galaxy of quotations taken exclusively from standard histories and biographies. All are arranged in alphabetical order under suitable topics, and each, complete in itself, refers the reader to the author and chapter quoted. They consist of facts, incidents, examples and precedents selected for illustrative purposes, and chiefly from the histories of the civilized races of antiquity and the American and English people. The subjects relate to religious, social and political life—to moral and civil government. The book has a general cross-reference index, also an index of personal names. The book is unique in design and admirable for convenience and utility. The historian's name is appended to every quotation. There are no fugitive anecdotes in the work.

"I read it with profit and delight. It will be of great service to all public speakers who know how to add illustrations to arguments. There are admirable materials in it for the feathers for a million arrows."—Joseph Cook.

"Such a wealth of material as this work contains makes it one of the most useful collections of information that I have ever seen. It is altogether the best historical reference-book ever published. It is an intelligent collection of authorities such as a student might have made in the course of twenty years, if he had once a day found an item which he regarded as of value. The indices are particularly commendable, and the system of cross-reference is as useful as it is novel. It seems to me that the book will be essential for reference to every scholar and in every library."—Abram S. Hewitt.

"It is a work of great beauty. It tells a story of intense interest, which never flags for a moment; its descriptions are drawn by the hand of a master, with the eye of a poet, and the familiarity of an expert with the objects described; its tone is so lofty that there is nothing with which to compare it but the New Testament; it is full of variety, now picturesque, now pathetic, now rising into the noblest realms of thought and aspiration; it finds language penetrating, fluent, elevated, impassioned, musical always, to clothe its varied thoughts and sentiments."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

NEW KING ARTHUR, The. "An Opera without Music." By Edgar Fawcett, author of "The Buntling Ball." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Written in the form of a comic opera libretto, and a very bright one at that. Indeed, it is called 'an opera without music;' and yet it is so well written that it almost sings itself. If W. S. Gilbert didn't write it, he should get the person who did write it to compose the next Gilbert and Sullivan opera, for certainly this new 'Idyl of the King' recalls Gilbert at his very best."—Sunday News, Detroit.

"It is in two acts, and is pleasing and satirical, the rhymes having a very taking operatic jingle."—Philadelphia Call.

"Full of happy conceits of rhyme and thought. The unitation in metre and treatment of Sullivan, so noticeable in 'The Buntling Ball,' becomes more pronounced in this book. One has the same sensation in reading it as would be produced by hearing Gilbert and Sullivan's operas. Indeed, it is very clever."—Minneapolis Tribune.

"Like its predecessor, it is full of keen wit and pleasant satire, and exhibits a wide knowledge of human nature, and is evidently the work of a classical scholar."—Herald and Presbyter.

"The most radical and complete exposure of Mormonism."—Chronicle, San Francisco.

"A clear, readable account of the origin and growth of Mormonism. A valuable, timely work."—Congregationalist, Boston.

"A particularly clear and trustworthy account of the origin of Mormonism."—Christian Standard, Cincinnati.

"A most effective focus of facts in readable style."—Catholic Mirror, Baltimore.

"The book contains much original matter, the publication and presentation of which appear to me to be highly important. Mrs. Dickinson is a relative of Solomon Spaulding, from whose stolen manuscript 'The Book of Mormon' was constructed. She has availed herself of family papers and other sources of information not heretofore used in histories of Mormonism, and produced a narrative of fascinating interest and great historical value. The facts she narrates cut up by the roots both the Josephite and the Mormonite form of the 'Latter-day Saints.' It discusses one of the most burning topics in American current reform. It will aid essentially in eradicating a giant mischief and delusion."—Joseph Cook.

¶PARKER'S PEOPLE'S BIBLE. Discourses upon Holy Scriptures, beginning with Genesis. By Joseph Parker, D.D. To be complete in 25 volumes, each volume complete in itself. 8vo, cloth, $1 50 per vol. See Appendix.

There are 18 volumes now ready: Genesis, 368 pp.; Exodus, 328 pp.; Leviticus–Numbers XXVI., 360 pp.; Numbers XXVI.–Deuteronomy, 412 pp.; Joshua–Judges V., 360 pp.; Judges VI.–1 Samuel XVIII., 398 pp.; Matthew I.–V., 306 pp.; Matthew VIII.–XI., 376 pp.; Matthew XVI.–XXVIII., 373 pp.; Acts I.–XII., 354 pp.; Acts XIII.–XIX., 353 pp.; Acts XX.–XXVIII., 357 pp. Also, 1 Samuel XVIII.–1 Kings XIII.; Kings XV.–1 Chronicles IX.; 1 Chronicles X.–2 Chronicles XX.; 2 Chronicles XXI.–Esther; Job; The Psalter.

This will also serve as a pastor's commentary upon portions of Holy Scripture of obvious, immediate importance to the growth of the soul in divine wisdom, and is not, therefore, intended to take the place of the verbal and critical commentaries which so ably represent the latest phases of Christian erudition. Instead of going minutely through any book verse by verse, the first object will be to discover its governing idea or principal purpose, and to make that clear by taking out of the book, say twelve, twenty or thirty instances most strikingly illustrative of the writer's intention.

"Dr. Parker has begun a stupendous work in this 'People's Bible;' but its accomplishment lies within the possibilities of his fertile mind, should life and health be spared. He condenses wonderfully, and throws a splendor of diction over all that he pours forth. He seems to say all that can be said upon a passage; at times he gives only an outline, and leaves the filling up to the thoughtful reader. One is struck with the singular ability and special originality of Dr. Parker. He is no repeater of old remarks, nor is he a superfluous commentator. He is a man of genius, and whenever he has anything to say he says it in his own striking manner. His track is his own, and the jewels which he lets fall in his progress are from his own caskets; this will give a permanent value to his works, when the productions of copyists will be forgotten."—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

"We heartily endorse Spurgeon's estimate."—Andover Review.

"The result of powerful thinking and keen insight."—British Quarterly Review, London.

"Remarkable for its splendid diction and striking thoughts."—Reformed Quarterly Review, Philadelphia.

PRAISE SONGS OF ISRAEL. A new Rendering of the Book of Psalms, arranged in Verse by John De Witt, D.D., of the Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J., and member of the American Old Testament Revision Company. Large 8vo, 219 pp., $1.50.

"Dr. De Witt has prepared a translation of the Psalms, which is the happy result of accurate scholarship and æsthetic taste. The significance and poetry are both preserved. His treatment of the Hebrew tenses (as they are called) relieves the text from obscurity, and his rythmical English is in full accord with the poetry of the Psalmist. It is not too much to say that this is the best translation of the Psalms in the English language."—Howard Crosby, D.D., LL.D.

"It is an admirable rendering of the Psalms. While showing an accurate knowledge of the Hebrew, Dr. De Witt has clothed the divine thoughts of the Psalmist in beautiful and appropriate language. The rendering seems to me very successful."—Very Rev. Robert Payne Smith, D.D., Dean of Canterbury, member of the British Old Testament Revision Company.

"Mr. Julian Hawthorne has written many things that are remarkable, either in conception or execution, but nothing that surpasses 'Prince Saroni's Wife' and 'The Pearl-Shell Necklace.' The character of Agatha is as perfect as the character of any of Shakespeare's women, and the supernatural laugh which haunts the ruins of the old mill-wheel is beyond anything of the kind that we remember. Mr. Hawthorne is a man of genius."—R. H. Stoddard in the Mail and Express, New York.

PSYCHIC STUDIES, the New; in their Relations to Christian Thought. By Franklin Johnson. 12mo, 91 pp., 75 cts.

What are called Psychic studies now engage the attention of many distinguished minds; some in this country, and more in England. These studies relate to what is commonly known as thought-transference, somnambulism, mesmerism, clairvoyance, spiritualism, apparition of the living, haunted houses, ghosts and Buddhistic occultism. Many of the phenomena which these scientists are investigating lie in the dim borderland between the spirit and the body. The researches, here carefully noted, have been chiefly carried on under the direction of the British "Society for Psychical Research." In this small volume is presented a great mass of interesting facts, which are made the basis of some important theories and conclusions, worth the careful study of the believers in Christianity, as well as of sceptics.

PULPIT TREES, and Homiletic Undergrowth. Being Discourses, Sermonic Saplings, Outlines and Germs. By Rev. Thomas Kelly, of Philadelphia. 12mo, 336 pp., cloth, $1.50.

Though composed of pulpit matter, this is a book quite out of the common order, and will be sure to be appreciated by preachers and students of the Word. It handles a number of texts that are seldom used in the pulpit, and it does it in a masterly, suggestive and original way.

"The owner of this theological grove we suppose to be a minister in Philadelphia. On walking through it we counted nineteen 'pulpit trees,' and found them all named. . . . On the whole, our walk was so pleasant that we can commend the grove to others as a very pleasant retreat, where they will find much to admire, and be likely to come away refreshed and invigorated."—Messiah's Herald, Boston.

Daniel the Prophet, 519 pp.

"It is the best exposition known to me of that section of the Sacred Scriptures. Pusey's Hebrew scholarship was undoubted; his learning was extensive; his acquaintance, particularly with patristic literature, was very large, and his heart was especially devout. His well-known Church views do not obtrude themselves, and alike in his comments on Daniel and the Minor Prophets, he seems to be on his knees as he studies—seeking only to know God's meaning and desiring only to do God's will. I have gone through his Daniel chapter by chapter—wondering even more at the reverence than at the learning of the expositor."—William M. Taylor, D.D.

"It is the most learned, able and instructive commentary on that portion of the Scripture."—Prof. Henry Green, Princeton Seminary.

¶REAPER AND THE HARVEST, The; or, Scenes and Incidents in Connection with the Work of the Holy Spirit in the Life and Labors of Rev. E. P. Hammond, M.A. Edited by Rev. P. C. Headley, with an introduction by Rev. A. H. Burlingham, D.D. 12mo, 550 pp., $1.50. Out of print.

As a preacher on practical themes Dr. Robinson has few equals. There is a simplicity in thought and diction, a directness, freshness, and pungency in form and quality that are charming and effective. His sermons are always Scriptural, terse, compact, brief and full of pertinent illustration. As a Hymnologist he has earned for himself the first place in the Church of to-day.

ROME IN AMERICA. By Justin D. Fulton, D.D., with a Sketch of the Author, by R. S. MacArthur, D.D. 12mo, 164 pp., paper, 30 cts.; cloth, 75 cts.

"In this volume, consisting of sermons, lectures and essays, the author discusses the doctrinal assumptions of the Roman Church, its avowed intolerance to an open Bible and to free thought, the superstition and idolatry in its doctrines, the ambition and corruption of its priests, and the peril to American institutions from a thoroughly organized and rapidly growing power which treacherously undermines where it dare not openly assail. The glowing fervor, the honesty and courage of conviction, the broad Christian sympathy apparent on every page, go far to atone for noticeable defects of literary style. In addition to Dr. McArthur's biographical sketch the book is furnished with an excellent portrait of Dr. Fulton, and an index of names and subjects."—New York Examiner.

SCIENCE OF POLITICS, The. By Walter Thomas Mills, Secretary of the National Inter-Collegiate Association. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This book is an attempt to discover the ways and means by which the common citizen may become an active and effective part of the Government under which he lives. It formulates and discusses the underlying principles involved in every conceivable phase of practical politics.

It is not a book of day dreams. It deals directly with those daily duties and privileges of worthy citizenship which are of the greatest practical importance. It is not a book of theories divorced from facts, demanding an ideal and impossible social condition for their use. It deals directly with the hard facts of our political history, and never loses sight of the necessary conditions under which men must act if they act together. Its foot-notes are extensive and valuable—establishing that the doctrines here taught are in line with the plain lessons of history and the teachings of the great authors on civil government.

Partial Contents:

Agnosticism.	Protoplasm.

Transmutation.	Apes.
Spontaneous Generation.	Men.
Agnostic Evolution.

"The sophistical reasoning by which it has been attempted to give some scientific credibility to the doctrines of Darwin and his school is exposed in a trenchant and telling way. He lays his hand at once upon the fallacy and drags it into the light. He fortifies his position with testimony drawn as well from the evolutionist himself as from his opponents. The argument is thus presented in a form to be appreciated by any reader, and is adapted to opening the eyes of those who take it for granted that doctrines associated with great names and elaborated in famous books must of course be true."—The Standard, Chicago.

The books of "The Standard Library" are designed for popular reading in biography, travel, hygiene, self-culture, fiction, science, philosophy, political economy, general literature and criticism. There are also stories and tales, and some popular expositions of the Bible. Many of the works of fiction are by eminent American authors, while care has been exercised to exclude fiction of a flashy and sensational character. The type is large and clear, and the paper good. All editions are handy 12mo size, with titles on back, and will stand erect on shelf. The paper-bound edition will be found especially convenient for summer use, and for village or home libraries, and for reading circles. See Supplement.

SWEET CICELY; or, Josiah Allen as a Politician. By "Josiah Allen's Wife" (Marietta Holley). A fascinating story. 12mo, 390 pp., $2.00.

"The interest of the book is intense. . . . Never was such a defender of Woman's Rights, never such an exponent of woman's wrongs! In Samantha's pithy, pointed, scornful utterances we have in very truth the expression of feelings common to most thoughtful women, well understood among them, but rarely finding voice except in confidential intercourses and for sympathetic ears. Other women besides poor Cicely, and warm-hearted, clear-headed Samantha, and 'humble' Dorlesky, eat their hearts out over the injustice of laws that they have no hand in making, and can have no hand in altering, though ruin and agony are their result. . . . It would be impossible to find in literature anything more pitiful than this story of the struggle of a gentle-natured woman against the dangers which surround her child, and her agony as she realizes her helplessness to avert evil from her fellow-sufferers. If it were not for the strong vein of humor which lightens up the darkest passages, the interest would be too painful. But Samantha intervenes with her quaint epigrams and keen-witted analysis, and, lo, a smile broadens before the tear has dried! . . . Alongside of the fun are genuine eloquence and profound pathos; we scarcely know which is the more delightful."—The Literary World, London, Eng.

"Josiah Allen's Wife" has gained a national fame by her inimitable, mirth-provoking style and her quaint wisdom. The humor is irresistible, and underneath it she strikes powerful blows against wickedness and in defence of right.

"Modern fiction has not furnished a more thoroughly individual character than 'Josiah Allen's Wife.' She will be remembered, honored, laughed and cried over when the purely 'artistic' novelist and his heroine have passed into oblivion; and for this reason 'Josiah Allen's Wife' is a

'Creature not too bright or good
For human nature's daily food.'

She is a woman, wit, philanthropist, and statesman all in one, and 'I prophesy' that 'Sweet Cicely's' gentle, firm hand shall lead 'Josiah Allen's Wife' onward into literary immortality."—Miss Frances E. Willard.

"Seldom has a writer combined such effective argument with keener humor and more genuine pathos. There are hundreds of politicians who will be benefited, and see themselves as others see them, if they will read the chapters upon Josiah when the Senatorial bee got to buzzing in his bonnet, and when he concluded to expend the entire year's crop of apples in buying votes enough to send him to Washington. His ideas of 'subsidies' and 'free trade' and 'Woman's rights' are as good specimens of genuine humor as can be found in the language."—Inter-Ocean, Chicago.

"Miss Holley seems to realize that humorists have a higher mission than merely furnishing amusement, and she uses her talents in the interest of all that is good, launching the keen shafts of satire right and left at fashionable follies and society sins. The tendency of her books is good, and they are sources of amusement which have few equals. Miss Holley can be pathetic as well as funny, and she is very much in earnest about things of which she writes in a jocular style. Her humor has a decidedly healthful, moral tone."—The Commonwealth, Boston.

TALFORD. An Affair at the —— Club in New York. A humorous, clever, convincing showing up of the Agnosticism and Materialism of the Day. 12mo, 32 pp., ribbon-tied, paper, 30 cts. Out of print.

"Have read it with interest and profit. It deals, in an entertaining way, some severe blows at Modern 'Advanced Thought,' and shows with keenest satire the bombastic 'Rationalism' of the day. Its widest possible circulation will do good."—A. C. Wedekind, D.D.

"Dr. Talmage's discourses lay hold of my inmost soul. The Lord is with this mighty man of valor. So may He ever be till the campaign closes with victory! I am indeed glad of his voice. It cheers me intensely. He loves the Gospel, and believes in something, which some preachers hardly do. There are those about who use the old labels, but the articles are not the same. May the Lord win armies of souls to Jesus by this man! I am astonished when God blesses me, but somehow I should not be so much surprised if He blessed this man."—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

TEMPERANCE CENTURY, The. See "What the Temperance Century has made Certain."

TEN YEARS A POLICE COURT JUDGE. By Judge Wiglittle, of a Country Circuit. 12mo, 229 pp., paper, 25 cts.; cloth, $1.00. (S. Lib., 122.)

"I have now been connected with police courts as clerk and justice for nearly a quarter of a century. While reading the book, 'Ten Years a Police Court Judge,' I seemed all the time to be reading a graphic story of my own experience and observations, so truthful are its representations of human nature, as seen by the police magistrate. Nothing in the book is overdrawn, and the racy style of the author keeps up the reader's interest from the beginning to the close."—Judge Clark Jillson, of Worcester, Mass.

"There are few men in the country better able to speak helpfully upon this topic than Mr. Clark. His long experience in Christian endeavor work has furnished him the material for a deeply interesting volume."—Golden Rule, Boston.

It is an unusual combination of Christian commonsense, with a broad and also a minute knowledge of the needs, desires, tastes and feelings of young people.

"The training of young converts, and the making of them before they are trained, the place and work of the young people's meeting, the best methods of conducting it, and its relation to the development and power of the Church—these, under various heads, are considered fully and wisely. . . . REVELATION, THE BOOK OF. An Exposition Based on the Principles of Prof. Stuart's Commentary, and designed to familiarize those principles to the minds of non-professional readers. By Israel P. Warren, D.D. 12mo, 300 pp., cloth. Price, $1.00.

The author names his plan of work as the "common-sense method," and maintains his position throughout the entire book. His arguments and interpretations are to show that the phrophecies of the Book of Revelation were given for a practical purpose to those to whom they were addressed; that they were designed to be understood, and that they were, in fact, understood by them in their essential import; also, that by the application of well-known canons of interpretation—guides in all languages and fields of literature—the people of today may as fully understand and as practically use them for doctrine, reproof, instruction, etc.

The Funk & Wagnalls' Revised Edition of

WEBSTER'S GREAT DICTIONARY

Will Contain Over 60,000 Words not found in the 1859 Edition of Webster, including nearly 20,000 New Words not to be found in any other edition of Webster's, or of Worcester's, or of Johnson's, or of Stormonth's. Will also Contain over 3000 Pictorial Illustrations, all Drawn Especially for this Revision. They will appear throughout the Book in connection with the Words they Illustrate.

ALSO INCLUDING A MOST VALUABLE

BIBLE SUPPLEMENT, CONTAINED ONLY IN OUR EDITION.

It will include every word to be found in the latest editions of the unabridged Webster, Worcester and other completed American and English dictionaries.

With the assistance of many able scholars this immense work is in rapid, careful preparation. Our edition must not in any way be confounded with those cheap copies of Webster which have flooded the market, and which are simply fac-simile reprints, without improvement or addition, of a 32-YEAR-OLD EDITION of Webster.

We do not hesitate to say that, take it all in all, it will be superior to any other completed dictionary of the English language now on the market.

HERE IS A PARTIAL LIST OF THE IMPROVEMENTS WE ARE MAKING:

1. The redefining of nearly 150,000 words.
2. The addition of over 60,000 words not to be found in the 1859 edition of Webster.
3. Over 20,000 new words not to be found in Worcester's or Webster's Unabridged, latest editions, or in Johnson's or Stormonth's. These words are in the departments of music, medicine, electricity, railroading, engineering, chemistry, agriculture, theology, and in various other departments of science and art. Every word, new or old, will be placed where it belongs alphabetically throughout the entire Dictionary.
4. The application of the principles of phonetics adopted by the leading American and English Philological Associations, and agreed to by such eminent philologists as Prof. W. D. Whitney of Yale College, Prof. Francis J. Child of Harvard University, Prof. J. M. Garnett of University of Virginia, the late F. A. P. Barnard, Pres. of Columbia College, William Arnold Stevens, Howard Crosby, etc., etc. This entire department of our Dictionary will be EDITED BY PROF. F. A. MARCH of Lafayette College, the renowned philologist. This Dictionary will be the first in England or America to give recognition to these rules. These phonetic principles will be so applied as in no way to lessen the value of the Dictionary, but really greatly enhance it even to those who do not care for them. The two spellings will be given, and it will be so arranged that either spelling can be discovered at a glance.
5. It will contain hundreds of Buddhistic words frequently appearing now in our literature, but not heretofore included in American and English Dictionaries. This portion of the work is being carefully edited by Prof. Alexander Wilder.
6. It will contain EVERY WORD TO BE FOUND in the latest editions of the Unabridged Webster, Worcester and other American and English Dictionaries, and thousands of new scientific, medical and other words not to be found in them. Many new electrical terms are defined by leading specialists; this is also true of other departments.
7. It will define hundreds of "slang" words which have become a part of common speech and have acquired so definite a meaning that their definition is often inquired after.
8. It will contain over 3,000 Pictorial Illustrations, drawn especially for this revision.
9. Our edition will exclusively contain a learned, most carefully prepared BIBLE SUPPLEMENT, as follows: 116 Pages of Bible Supplement. 1. Hebrew and English Lexicon to the Old Testament. 2. Idiomatic Use of Hebrew and Greek Tenses. 3. Greek and English Lexicon to the New Testament. 4. Analytical Survey of all Books of the Bible. 5. Analytical Survey of all Facts of the Bible. 6. Analytical Survey of all Idioms of the Bible.

Besides the above our edition will contain PRONOUNCING VOCABULARIES OF MODERN GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES, OF GREEK AND LATIN PROPER NAMES, OF SCRIPTURE NAMES; PRINCIPAL EVENTS IN HISTORY; SYNONYMS AND ANONYMS; QUOTATIONS AND PHRASES FROM LATIN, GREEK, ITALIAN AND SPANISH, &C., &C. Over 2000 quarto pages, each about the size of a page in Worcester's or Webster's Unabridged, containing more words than are to be found in either of these great unabridged dictionaries. It will be printed on the regular dictionary paper—equal to the best used by other unabridged dictionaries.

BINDING. Our Webster will be bound in two different bindings—sheep and what is known to the trade as half-Russia. Each subscriber can have his choice of binding, but should state his choice. The price for each is the same.

WHEN READY. The extended revisions and large and valuable additions which we are making will delay the publication; we are pushing the work to completion as rapidly as is consistent with exactness.

PATENTED INDEX. For 50 cents extra we will have inserted in your Dictionary the Dennison Index; that is, the letters of the alphabet will be cut into the front of the book, thus facilitating the finding of words.

PRICE.—When issued, the price of this great Dictionary will be $8.00, expressage paid.

THIS IMMENSE NEW DICTIONARY WILL BE KNOWN AS

Funk & Wagnalls' Revised Edition of Webster's Great Dictionary.

Each of the periods into which the work is divided is introduced by a sketch of the features which distinguish it, and of the forces which shape it, including Politics, The State of Society, Religion, Learning, Language, Poetry, The Drama, The Novel, The Periodical, History, Theology, Ethics, Science, Philosophy. Periods are recreated; the past is resuscitated. The actors are made to reveal themselves in their own words.

"The work cannot fail to be of great assistance as a guide to all who wish to be directed in their study of the literature of the English language."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"It is a work greatly needed. In plan and execution it seems to me all that could be asked for."—John G. Whittier.

WINCHELL—SPARKS FROM A GEOLOGIST'S HAMMER.—By Alexander Winchell, LL.D. Third Edition. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth..... 2.00

"Of thrilling interest to every reader who has an intelligent desire to know more of this wonderful planet on which we live. The chapter, 'A Grasp of Geologic Time,' is worth more to the general reader than the price of the book. Prof. Winchell's first chapter takes the reader upon an interesting excursion to Mont Blanc and the Mer de Glace, where the æsthetic aspect of geology, as there so beautifully displayed, is presented. This is followed by three chapters, on 'The Old Age of the Continents,' 'Obliterated Continents,' and 'A Grasp of Geologic Time': following with other chapters, Climatic, Historical and Philosophical."—Boston Home Journal.

WINCHELL—WORLD LIFE; or Comparative Geology.—By Prof. Alexander Winchell, LL.D. Third Edition. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth..... 2.50

BOISE—FIRST LESSONS IN GREEK.—Adapted to the Grammar of Goodwin, and that of Hadley as revised by Allen. By J. R. Boise, Ph.D., LL.D. Thoroughly revised by J. G. Pattengill. New edition, new plates, and elegant Greek type....$1.25

"Well adapted to the use of beginners. I shall not hesitate to recommend it."—H. M. Baird, LL.D., Prof. of Greek, University of City of New York.

"I have never seen a more attractive book for students in Elementary Greek than your revised edition of Dr. Boise's 'First Lessons in Greek.' The revision shows careful work upon every page, and the book cannot fail to become a favorite with discriminating teachers of beginners."—Alexander Kerr, A. M., Prof. of Greek, University of Wisconsin.

"The name of Dr. Boise is alone sufficient guarantee for the excellence of any Greek textbook. The new edition of his Greek Lessons, revised by Principal Pattengill, seems to be not only enlarged but improved, and well adapted for use in preparatory schools at the present time."—W. S. Tyler, LL.D., Prof. of Greek, Amherst College.

BOISE—FIRST THREE BOOKS OF HOMER'S ILIAD.—With Explanatory Notes, and References to the Grammars of Goodwin, Hadley and Hadley-Allen. By James R. Boise, Ph.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth 1.00

"A very useful book for beginners in the Epic dialect."—B. L. Gildersleeve, Ph.D., LL.D., Prof. of Greek, Johns Hopkins University.

"I take pleasure in expressing to you my high appreciation of its accuracy and value. The work is evidently the fruit, not only of ripe and critical scholarship, but also of large and successful experience in the class-room. It cannot fail I think to be abundantly useful."—Albert Harkness, LL. D., Prof. of Greek, Brown University.

"It is a most valuable contribution to classical learning, and I trust it will have all the success it most certainly deserves. * * I am glad to see that you have placed the results of the later German Homeric studies within reach of our school boys. The elegant type is not to be forgotten."—W. W. Goodwin, Ph.D., Prof. of Greek, Harvard University.

BOISE—EXERCISES IN GREEK SYNTAX.—Being Exercises in some of the more difficult Principles of Greek Syntax; with References to the Grammars of Crosby, Curtius, Goodwin, Hadley, Hadley-Allen and Kühner. A Sequel to "Jones's Greek Prose Composition." By J. R. Boise, Ph.D. Eighth Edition..... 1.25

"Jones's 'Greek Prose' and Boise's 'Greek Syntax' taken together, constitute an apparatus which is unsurpassed; or rather, if I mistake not, unequaled for the acquisition of a thorough and familiar acquaintance with Greek forms."—H. M. Baird, Ph.D., Prof. of Greek, University of the City of New York.

BOISE & FREEMAN—SELECTIONS FROM VARIOUS GREEK AUTHORS.—For the First Year in College. With Explanatory Notes and References to Goodwin's Greek Grammar, and to Hadley's Larger and Smaller Grammars. By J. R. Boise, Ph.D., LL.D., and J. C. Freeman, M. A. Seventh Edition. 12mo, cloth.. 2.00

H. Buck, A. M., Prof. of Greek, Boston University.*

CHITTENDEN—ELEMENTS OF ENGLISH COMPOSITION.—By Miss Lucy A. Chittenden, Teacher of Rhetoric, etc., Ann Arbor High School. 12mo, cloth.....$ .60.

"It is the best book with which to begin the study of English Composition I have seen."—C. N. Sims, LL.D., President and Professor of English Literature, Syracuse University, N. Y.

"I have examined it with satisfaction. I find it a book that I can recommend for practical use in our graded schools."—Hon. D. L. Kiehle, State Supt. of Public Instruction, Minnesota.

"I have carefully examined Chittenden's English Composition, and am very much pleased with it. It is concise and practical."—Hon. Chas. W. Fuller, State Supt. of Public Instruction, New Jersey.

"Its plan of developing an ability to think and write is an excellent one. I have had some of its principles forced upon me by many years' experience with composition work in a large school."—H. P. Emerson, Prin. of Buffalo (N. Y.) Central School.

"I like it exceedingly, and have recommended its use to our graduates who go out to teach. I am sure that if all our freshmen had been trained in composition according to its plan, there would be less stumbling after the college course in English begins."—Miss Margaret E. Stratton, Professor of English, Wellesley College, Mass.

"I find Chittenden's Composition to be a work of great merit, thoroughly practical, sufficiently full, and indicating the very best method of approaching this important part of school work. It is one of the best and most practical productions I have seen, and hence I can most heartily endorse it."—J. W. Anderson, Supt. City Schools, San Francisco.

CROSS—ECLECTIC SHORT-HAND.—Writing by Principles instead of Arbitrary Signs, for General Use and Verbatim Reporting. By J. G. Cross, M. A. Twenty-fifth Thousand. From new plates. 12mo, cloth..... 2.00

We claim that the demonstration of the following four propositions is an unanswerable argument why the short-hand student should adopt Eclectic Short-hand: (1) It is the briefest; (2) it is the simplest; (3) it is the easiest to write; (4) it is the most legible. Send for our circular demonstrating the above by comparison with the other systems.

"I have used Eclectic Shorthand for over four years, and during that time have never found it wanting in any test to which it has been applied. My long experience with other systems has taught me a true appreciation of the merits of the Eclectic, and words fail to convey any idea of the satisfaction and pleasure I have derived from its use. More easily learned, written and read, rapid and always reliable, such is my opinion, after a large experience, of the Eclectic System of Shorthand."—F. F. Dean, Official Stenographer to the Chief Clerk of the Census Bureau, Washington, D. C.

"The principles are all written in clear, comprehensive style and are well illustrated, thereby rendering the art so simple that a child can readily understand it."—Prof. W. T. Larimore, Western Normal College, Shenandoah, Iowa.

CROSS—ECLECTIC SHORT-HAND DICTIONARY.—Designed to Accompany the Eclectic Short-Hand Text-Book. By J. Geo. Cross, M.A. Second Edition..... 3.00

It contains the primitive words of the language, and enough derivatives to thoroughly illustrate the method of forming derivatives; also, lists of medical, legal, and other technical terms. Each word is followed by the letters to be expressed in short-hand outline, and this skeleton word is followed by the short-hand character. Both the student and the practical stenographer will find it an exceedingly valuable assistant.

D'OOGE—DEMOSTHENES ON THE CROWN.—With Extracts from the Oration of Æschines against Ctesiphon, and Explanatory Notes. By M. L. D'Ooge, Ph.D., Professor of Greek, University of Michigan. Eighth Edition. 12mo, cloth..... 1.50

H. S. Frieze, LL.D., Prof. of Latin, University of Michigan, writes: "There can be no difference of opinion among critics as to the excellence of the work. Both the plan and execution do great credit to the judgment and rare scholarship of the editor. In the parallel passages, introduced from Æschines, so necessary to the understanding of the text, in the clear statement of the main divisions of the argument, and especially in the felicitous character of the notes, which afford neither too much nor too little aid, the student will find all the assistance he can desire in attaining to a just appreciation of the great orator, who, in the judgment of Quintilian, is the lex orandi."

JONES—EXERCISES IN GREEK PROSE COMPOSITION.—With References to Goodwin's, Hadley-Allen's and Taylor's-Kühner's Greek Grammars, and a full English-Greek Vocabulary. By ELISHA JONES, M. A., late Prof. in the University of Michigan. Thirty-fourth Thousand. 12mo, half leather..... $1.00

"I gave 'Prof. Jones's Exercises in Greek Prose Composition' to our Freshman Class immediately after its publication, and have continued to use it for that department of instruction. I like it thoroughly."—John B. Foster, Prof. of Greek, Colby University.

"It is admirable. It fills the place and accomplishes the object for which it was prepared and designed more completely than any other work of its class and purpose that I have yet seen."—Newton Bateman, LL.D., Pres. of Knox College.

"A teacher conducting a class through 'Xenophon's Anabasis' cannot afford to omit the use of this little volume. It greatly facilitates the translation of the Anabasis, and I believe more pages of the latter can be well translated in six months, besides going through with this book, than if the whole time were spent upon the Anabasis and grammar."—H. F. Fisk, Prin. of Prep. Dep't Northwestern University.

JONES—FIRST LESSONS IN LATIN.—Adapted to the Latin Grammars of Allen & Greenough, Andrews & Stoddard, Bartholomew, Bullions & Morris, Chase & Stuart, Gildersleeve and Harkness. By ELISHA JONES, M.A. 12mo, half leather..... 1.25

"I have examined nothing that seems to me to meet all the wants of a class begining Latin so well."—O. D. Robinson, Prin. of High School, Albany, N. Y.

"Better adapted to introductory and preparatory work in Latin than any other book in the market."—F. W. Kelsey, Prof. of Latin, Lake Forest University, Ill.

"Every page shows that it is the work both of a thorough scholar and an experienced and successful teacher. As such it is a very valuable addition to our text-books in the Latin language. * * * I should be glad if all our students had been put through it in their schools."—Thomas Chase, Late Pres. of Haverford College, Penn.

"An admirable book both in plan and execution. * * The frequent reviews without tiresome iteration, the numerous cautions against the common mistakes of beginners, and the healthful hints to teachers, the impartial references to the standard grammars, the attention given to the quantities and the careful treatment in the vocabulary of composition and derivation of words, and the more obvious English derivatives, are features which cannot be too much commended."—C. P. F. Bancroft, Prin. of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

JONES—EXERCISES IN LATIN PROSE COMPOSITION.—With References to the Grammars of Allen & Greenough, Andrews & Stoddard, Bartholomew, Bullions & Morris, Gildersleeve and Harkness. By ELISHA JONES, M.A..... 1.00

"Its exercises and the order of their arrangement are superior to those of any similar work with which I am acquainted."—James Eldon, Prof. of Latin, Central State Normal School, Lock Haven, Pa.

"Its great excellence lies in its practical adaptation to the purpose for which it was intended. The author evidently believes that the writing of Latin—in a preparatory course at least—is strictly the means to an end, that end being the mastery of the Latin Syntax. He has shown great skill in so selecting the reference to the grammars, and in so framing the sentences for translation, that the pupil's attention is constantly called to those principles of syntax which he most needs to acquire. I therefore recommend it heartily to teachers, believing that if used faithfully, in the manner indicated by the author, it will aid them greatly in fitting their pupils thoroughly for admission to college."—Henry F. Burton, Prof. of Latin, University of Rochester, N. Y.

MORRIS—MANUAL OF CLASSICAL LITERATURE.—Comprising biographical and critical notices of principal Greek and Roman authors, illustrative extracts from their works, etc. By CHARLES MORRIS. Third Edition. 12mo, cloth..... 1.50

"The book presents a more complete survey of classical literature than can elsewhere be found in the same compass."—Scotsman, Edinburgh, Scotland.

"It is the work of one who is a scholar, and at the same time a perspicuous and graceful writer; who is not only well instructed in the facts of Greek and Latin literature, but also knows what to say on the subject, and how to say it."—W. S. Tyler, D.D., LL.D., Prof. of Greek, Amherst College.

PETERSON—NORWEGIAN-DANISH GRAMMAR AND READER.—With a Vocabulary designed for American Students of the Norwegian-Danish language. By Rev. C. I. P. PETERSON, Professor of Scandinavian Literature. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

STEVENS—SELECT ORATIONS OF LYSIAS.—With Introductions and Explanatory Notes. By W. A. STEVENS, A.M. Seventh Edition. 12mo, cloth..... $1.25

"It is a beautiful edition, and the work of both editor and publisher seems to me to be excellent."—Henry M. Tyler, Prof. of Greek, Smith College.

"Admirably adapted to the needs of the youngest classes in college, furnishing the proper amount of aid in the right place."—M. L. D'Ooge, Ph. D., Prof. of Greek, University of Michigan.

WELSH—ESSENTIALS OF GEOMETRY.—By Prof. A. H. WELSH, 8vo, cloth.... 1.50

"I like the many valuable features of the book. Of the notation, diagrams, order of development, etc., I could not say enough."—C. F. P. Bancroft, Ph.D., Principal of Phillips (Andover) Academy, Mass.

"After using it in the school-room—the only test—if possible, the book more than meets my expectations. It combines the simplicity of Davies, the modern scientific research of Chauvenet, and the practical features of Olney."—W. E. Arnold, Prof. of Math., Cincinnati Wesleyan College.

WELSH—DEVELOPMENT OF ENGLISH LITERATURE AND LANGUAGE.—By Prof. A. H. WELSH. University Edition. Complete in 1 vol., Unabridged. Tenth Edition. Crown 8vo, cloth..... 3.00

"Welsh's English Literature is unsurpassed for usefulness."—J. Ernest Whitney, Instructor in English, Yale College.

"A real contribution to the already rich field of English literature. I find it a valuable assistant to me in my classes."—D. Dorchester, Jr., Prof. of Eng. Lit., Boston University.

"It meets a real want of our times. No other work has covered the same ground in delineating all the influences that unite in the development of language and literature."—T. Whiting Bancroft, Prof. Eng. Literature, Brown University.

"The work is clear, animated, and natural in its style; judicious in its criticisms; not deficient in its statement of facts; happy in its illustrative selections. It is not a 'dictionary of authors,' nor a 'catalogue of books.' I very cordially recommend it to all who may desire to find a safe and pleasant guide to a knowledge of the development of the English language and literature."—Cyrus Northrop, LL.D., Prest. of University of Minnesota, formerly Prof. of English Literature, Yale College.

WINCHELL—GEOLOGICAL EXCURSIONS; or the Rudiments of Geology for Young Learners. By ALEXANDER WINCHELL, LL.D., Prof. of Geology, etc., University of Michigan. Illustrated. Fifth Edition. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

"By far the best elementary work on Geology published. Teachers will find it a gem."—Literary World, Boston.

"It ought to take and fill an important place. I believe such a book will not only fit our college students, upon entering, to be ready to study Geology in earnest, but in the schools where it shall be introduced will give an interest to the study hardly ever kindled by the ordinary teacher."—Henry S. Williams, Ph.D., Professor of Geology, Cornell University.

WINCHELL—GEOLOGICAL STUDIES; or Elements of Geology for High Schools, Colleges, Normal, and other Schools. By ALEXANDER WINCHELL, LL.D. 1 vol. 12mo. 367 illustrations. 540 pages. Third Edition..... 3.00

"An admirable book. I have examined it carefully, and have commended it to my students as the best book for those who wish to be intelligent men."—J. J. Stevenson, Prof. Nat. Sci., University of the City of New York.

"I consider the work very complete, and I am convinced students will get more real and valuable knowledge from it than any other work of the kind yet published."—E. T. Fristoe, Prof. Nat. Sci., Columbian University, Washington, D. C.

"We are satisfied, after giving the work a careful examination, that these 'Geological Studies' will be considered the most important contribution to the science that the professor has yet made. The style of the work is the same familiar, pleasing style of the author's other works, and the illustrations are both numerous and excellent. Altogether, we have never seen a more thoroughly satisfactory work."—The Teacher, Philadelphia.
